Humphrey Fears Rift In GOP Over Appointment Of Durkin

Taft Declares Ike's Choice 'Incredible'

NEW YORK, Dec. 2 (AP)—George M. Humphrey, President-elect Eisenhower's choice for secretary of the Treasury, said today he hoped the new administration could avoid a rift with Sen. Robert A. Taft, critic of Eisenhower's selection of a secretary of labor.

Humphrey also said the new administration should have good relations with labor.

He commented at Eisenhower's Hotel Commodore headquarters after Taft described as "incredible" the designation of Martin P. Durkin as secretary of labor.

Durkin Supported Adlai

Durkin, an AFL official, is a Democrat who supported Gov. Adlai Stevenson, Eisenhower's opponent in the presidential election. Durkin has called for changes in the Taft-Hartley Act authored by the Ohio Republican senator.

Newsmen asked Humphrey, Cleveland industrialist, what he thought of the Taft statement. Humphrey replied that he had seen only newspaper headlines, then added:

"I hope we haven't started with a rift."

Eisenhower's headquarters was officially silent on the criticism by Taft.

A member of the President-elect's staff, after repeated requests by newsmen for comment, said:

"There will be no comment on the Taft statement."

Ike Backer Raps Taft

Paul Stockhammer, a worker for Eisenhower in the presidential campaign and chairman of a citizens' committee for Eisenhower in 1948, took sharp issue with Taft.

"Sen. Taft should be rebuked for his hasty rap at the Durkin appointment without first taking the time to acquaint himself with the full facts as he might have done by checking with headquarters," Stockhammer said in a written statement.

"When the real story behind Durkin's appointment becomes known, Sen. Taft will recognize this appointment as a tactical, political master stroke and one of the finest ever made to the Cabinet for the labor portfolio."

Haywood Vows Finish Fight For CIO Presidency

ATLANTIC CITY, Dec. 2 (AP)—The CIO worked today to repair a deep rift in its ranks over choosing a new CIO president, a scrap not yet over but apparently won by 45-year-old Walter Reuther.

The dynamic, red-haired Reuther, president of the big CIO auto workers union, was widely conceded as having whipped together enough votes to get the CIO presidency in any convention showdown.

Haywood Pledges Finish Fight

Top officials were trying to get forces backing CIO Executive Vice President Allan S. Haywood, a 64-year-old veteran union leader who came up from the coal mines, to back off and concede to Reuther.

But Haywood and his chief supporter, David J. McDonald, president of the big CIO steelworkers union, were still pledging a finish fight that could spill over on the convention floor. Selection of officers is due Thursday.

The Haywood forces held a wildly-applauded rally tonight at which Haywood, McDonald and Presidents Joseph A. Beirne of the communication workers and Michael J. Quill of the Transport Workers Union pledged a fight to the end in Haywood's behalf.

No-Quarter Resolution Adopted

They adopted a resolution, supported by more than a score of smaller unions, refushing any quarter in the fight and insisting Haywood's name will be put in nomination against Reuther.

Many CIO officials were trying to iron out the situation, possibly by granting some concessions to the Haywood forces in the CIO hierarchy, to avert a showdown that might leave lasting scars.

Nunan Accused Of Dodging Taxes Totaling $91,084

NEW YORK, Dec. 2 (AP)—Joseph D. Nunan, Jr., the nation's former chief tax collector, was indicted today on charges of income tax dodging amounting to $91,086.

He quit as head of the Internal Revenue Bureau in 1947 and went back into private law practice. The indictment covers the years 1946 through 1950.

For nearly four years before he left his government job, Nunan bossed hundreds of tax agents who collected billions and engineered stern crackdowns on any citizens who withheld taxes.

Nunan's Ex-Aide Indicted

Nunan's former top aide, Daniel A. Bolich, was indicted Sept. 11 on similar charges of evading $7,444 in taxes during the same 1946-1950 period. He has pleaded innocent and is awaiting trial.

Target of a House subcommittee tax scandal probe earlier this year, Nunan faces a maximum of 25 years in prison and $25,000 in fines if convicted on all five counts of the tax dodging indictment.

He was not available for comment.

Nunan more or less forecast his own indictment last May when he refused to answer questions about his personal income. A House subcommittee lawyer asked him if he thought there were "any possible crimes for which you could be indicted."

Appeared Before Probers

"Yes, sir, I think there are," Nunan replied.

A Brooklyn grand jury, investigating his affairs at the time, bore him out with today's indictment. The same grand jury also indicted Bolich.

Nunan appeared before a House ways and means subcommittee that unearthed a long string of scandals that cost the jobs of a number of internal revenue officials. The subcommittee was headed by Rep. King (D-Calif).

Red 'Saboteurs' Face Execution

MOSCOW, Dec. 2 (AP)—A special military court in Kiev, capital of the Soviet Ukraine, today sentenced three former trade and light industry officials to death by the firing squad. They were convicted as "enemies of the people."

The men sentenced to death are K. A. Khain, former manager of the Kiev trading base of the light industry merchandising organization; and D. I. Gerzon and Y. E. Yaroshetsky, former heads of sections of the base.

Two of their associates were sentenced to 25 years in prison each.

The Ukrainian Pravda, reporting on the trial and sentences, declared:

"By their criminal actions they undermined the Soviet trade and trade turnover in the city of Kiev, stole Socialist property and counteracted measures directed at providing workers with high quality merchandise. Best-selling cloth and merchandise intended for sale to the population they stole and sold through speculators and appropriated hundreds of thousands of rubles received for the goods."

The group was described as "a gang of saboteurs." Pravda of Kiev said all the defendants had "a dark past and anti-Soviet moods" and some of them in the past were traders and speculators.

Plastic Buttons Plug Holes Inside Children's Hearts

DENVER, Dec. 2 (AP)— Plastic buttons are plugging up dangerous holes inside children's hearts, a surgeon announced today.

Four children are well and apparently improved with their buttoned-up hearts, Dr. Henry Swan of the University of Colorado Medical School, told the American Medical Association.

All were born with a hole in the septum, the inner wall separating the two upper chambers of the heart. Blood could gush back and forth making the heart work harder. All faced danger of death from heart failure.

The plastic button is sewed up against the hole. In a few weeks, smooth tissue grows over the button.

In some youngsters, the button didn't close the hole completely but blocked it enough to bring improvement, Dr. Swan said. A fifth child, whose heart already was failing, died a few days after the new operation.

Neat sewing puts the button in place.

Both sides of the chest are opened. The surgeon thrusts his finger inside the heart through an incision on the right side.

The eye end of the needle is pushed in from the left side of the heart, through the septum and out the right side.

Russian Move For Immediate Truce Beaten

U. N. Committee Suspends Debate

UNITED NATIONS, N. Y., Dec. 2 (AP) — The Western bloc today soundly beat down Russia's stubborn drive in the U. N. Political Committee for an immediate Korean cease-fire, with negotiations to come later.

The committee, virtually exhausted after more than a month's argument, then suspended all talk on Korea until it hears Communist reaction to an Indian peace plan it approved last night.

Only the five Soviet bloc countries voted for the immediate cease-fire. Forty-one countries, including the United States, Britain, France and Nationalist China, opposed it. Twelve countries abstained. They were Afghanistan, Argentina, Burma, Egypt, India, Indonesia, Iran, Iraq, Lebanon, Pakistan, Saudi Arabia and Syria. Ecuador and Yemen were absent.

Neutrals Abstain

Soviet Foreign Minister Andrei Y. Vishinsky apparently intended to put the neutrals, such as India and other Asian and Arab countries, on the spot with his motion for a cease-fire now. They voted for the Indian peace plan approved by the committee yesterday, but they abstained today when the cease-fire idea was put up separately.

Little hope is held here that Red China and North Korea will accept the peace proposals approved by the committee. Representatives of the West said, however, that they wanted to make the attempt regardless of almost certain rejection.

Assembly Approval Expected

An American spokesman expressed satisfaction with the huge vote for the Indian plan in the committee. It had been amended to make it acceptable to the West, especially, Western sources said, to make certain there would be no forced repatriation of prisoners of war if its terms are finally accepted.

The General Assembly is expected to give quick approval to the committee's resolution on Korea. The next move after that action would be for the Assembly president, Lester B. Pearson of Canada, to dispatch it to Peiping and Pyongyang as a basis for what the committee called a just settlement of the prisoner of war problem.

Jessup To Quit Post January 19

WASHINGTON, Dec. 2. (AP)—It was made official today that Dr. Philip C. Jessup, ambassador-at-large and prime target of Sen. Joseph R. McCarthy, goes out of government service the day before the Republican administration takes over.

President Truman accepted his resignation, effective Jan. 19, with high praise for his services as an international troubleshooter and State Department adviser.

Jessup will go back to his faculty post at Columbia University, from which he has been on leave since 1948. There had been no doubt that he would get out of government with or before the change of administration.

Schoolboy Admits Killing Sweetheart

Greeson ordered Pat Chavez Alvillar, 16, held for investigation of murder in connection with the death of Barbara Hoppman.

Another 16-year-old, Carl Cecil Wofford, also of Tracy, was ordered held as a material witness.

Greeson said Alvillar's signed statement indicated the slaying was a case of "Russian roulette in reverse." He said there were apparently five slugs in the gun to start with, but only one in the chamber at the time of the shooting.

He quoted Wofford as relating that Alvillar and the girl "had words" and that Alvillar first pointed the .32 caliber revolver at Wofford. It did not fire.

Then he pointed it at the girl, Wofford stated, and it discharged. She died shortly before midnight of a bullet in the temple.

He made the statement in answering news conference questions about the prospects of beginning work on aonther 60,000 ton flattop. The budget includes the department's spending requests for the fiscal year beginning next July 1.

Deadly Cocktails Of Paint Thinner Kill Four Convicts

MONTGOMERY, Ala., Dec. 2 (AP)—Four convicts died in agony and seven others were left violently ill today after drinking paint thinner cocktails in a Sunday morning binge at Kilby Prison.

One of the survivors was on the doubtful list, but the other six were expected to recover, said State Prison Director J. M. McCullough.

Of those who died one was Desperado Troy Blackstock, 36, the elder of two brothers whose reign of terror across Southwest Alabama and Mississippi 11 years ago was climaxed by a sensational jail raid at Leakesville, Miss.

Troy's brother, Thomas Roy, also died violently in prison. The younger man, 29, at the time, was knifed to death three years ago in a fight with two other convicts.

Other victims of the poisonous paint thinner-orange juice highballs—besides Troy Blackstock were:

1. Calvin C. Roper, 26, serving 25 years for robbery in Dallas County, Ala., in July, 1951.

2. James Epps, 37, serving 10 years for robbery with an additional 11-year sentence for second degree murder.

3. D. C. Everett, 25, sentenced to two years for grand larceny.

Prison Director McCullough said the survivors told him a convict assigned to a painting detail smuggled the deadly drinks into a cell block. The paint thinner contained poisonous methyl alcohol.

Convict Who Held Family Prisoner Two Days Seized

WASHINGTON, Pa., Dec. 2 (AP)—One of five dangerous escaped convicts from Pittsburgh's Western State Penitentiary who held a family of five prisoners for two days was captured today in West Virginia less than 12 hours after making a new dash for freedom.

James Milk, 25, serving 10 to 20 years for robbery, was captured in a Western Union office at Charleston, W. Va. He was alone.

Milk was captured without a struggle as he went to the Western Union office for a money order for which he had wired to his home in Duquesne, near Pittsburgh.

Fled Prison Sunday

Pennsylvania State Police said Milk used the name of George Gagich, when he wired for the money.

Milk and four other prisoners fled after holing up from Sunday morning until early today at the home of Emile Lerby in the little mining town of Rea, near Washington, Pa.

Held at bay were Lerby's wife, Ethel, 42; her son-in-law, John Gagich; her daughter, Mrs. Mary Gagich, 23; and two grandchildren —John Gagich Jr., 6 months, and Marlene, 2. Lerby had gone hunting.

Convicts Took Cars, Guns

The convicts took the Lerby and Gagich cars, two guns, knives and clothes from the Lerby home and sped south toward West Virginia, Pennsylvania State Police Lt. Singleton Shaffer said. At Wheeling, W. Va., police said they believe an abandoned car found on the street may be one of the stolen vehicles. Another car was reoprted stolen a few blocks away.

Mrs. Lerby told state police the fugitives were "very gentlemanly and never abused us at anytime." They left when the entire family, exhausted from their long vigil, fell asleep early this morning.

Atty. General Orders Probe Of Lattimore

U. N. Archivist Refuses To Talk

[By The Associated Press]

The government moved on several fronts yesterday against suspected Communists or persons who have been accused of Red sympathies.

In New York, a federal grand jury warned the American people that "an overwhelmingly large group of disloyal United States citizens" has seeped into the United Nations.

The jurors urged that when their term of service ends another grand jury be impaneled to carry on their investigation of alleged subversion and espionage. They said the situation in the U. N. appears to be part of a "definite, planned pattern."

U. N. Archivist Clams Up

At another session of the Senate's Internal Security subcommittee in New York, Irving P. Schiller, archivist of the U. N.'s European headquarters in Geneva, refused to state whether he had ever been a member of the Communist Party.

Schiller did testify that he is not a Communist today. Before joining U. N., Schiller served in the U. S. Army and worked as a civil employe for the Navy and at the National Archives in Washington.

Attorney General McGranery announced in Washington there would be a grand jury investigation of Owen Lattimore, the Johns Hopkins University professor who was a central figure in the Internal Security Committee's probe of Far Eastern policy last spring.

Sen. McCarthy (R-Wis) has accused Lattimore of having been a Soviet espionage agent. Lattimore has vehemently denied it.

Did Lattimore Lie?

The grand jury proceedings will be concerned with whether Lattimore, a Chinese specialist and one-time consultant to the State Department told the truth when he was before the committee. The professor has said it is "fantastic" to believe that he committed perjury or had anything to commit perjury about.

The Army lodged fromal charges yesterday against Lt. Sheppard Carl Thierman, a 30-year-old medical officer who refused to tell the Internal Security Committee whether he was a Communist.

An Army spokesman said in Washington that Thierman has been charged with violation of a section of the military code dealing with "fraudulent enlistment, appointment or separation." He added an investigation will be made to determine whether the charges will be referred to a general court-martial.

The Rocky Mountain region also was peppered by snow. Several inches fell in the mountainous areas in Utah. Visibility on some highways was reduced almost to zero. A fall rangi ng up to seven inches was reported in some parts of Southern Idaho.

Red 'Saboteurs' Face Execution

MOSCOW, Dec. 2 (AP)—A special military court in Kiev, capital of the Soviet Ukraine, today sentenced three former trade and light industry officials to death by the firing squad. They were convicted as "enemies of the people."

The men sentenced to death are K. A. Khain, former manager of the Kiev trading base of the light industry merchandising organization; and D. I. Gerzon and Y. E. Yaroshetsky, former heads of sections of the base.

Two of their associates were sentenced to 25 years in prison each.

The Ukrainian Pravda, reporting on the trial and sentences, declared:

"By their criminal actions they undermined the Soviet trade and trade turnover in the city of Kiev, stole Socialist property and counteracted measures directed at providing workers with high quality merchandise. Best-selling cloth and merchandise intended for sale to the population they stole and sold through speculators and appropriated hundreds of thousands of rubles received for the goods."

The group was described as "a gang of saboteurs." Pravda of Kiev said all the defendants had "a dark past and anti-Soviet moods" and some of them in the past were traders and speculators.

Plastic Buttons Plug Holes Inside Children's Hearts

DENVER, Dec. 2 (AP)— Plastic buttons are plugging up dangerous holes inside children's hearts, a surgeon announced today.

Four children are well and apparently improved with their buttoned-up hearts, Dr. Henry Swan of the University of Colorado Medical School, told the American Medical Association.

All were born with a hole in the septum, the inner wall separating the two upper chambers of the heart. Blood could gush back and forth making the heart work harder. All faced danger of death from heart failure.

The plastic button is sewed up against the hole. In a few weeks, smooth tissue grows over the button.

In some youngsters, the button didn't close the hole completely but blocked it enough to bring improvement, Dr. Swan said. A fifth child, whose heart already was failing, died a few days after the new operation.

Neat sewing puts the button in place.

Both sides of the chest are opened. The surgeon thrusts his finger inside the heart through an incision on the right side.

The eye end of the needle is pushed in from the left side of the heart, through the septum and out the right side.

Russian Move For Immediate Truce Beaten

U. N. Committee Suspends Debate

UNITED NATIONS, N. Y., Dec. 2 (AP) — The Western bloc today soundly beat down Russia's stubborn drive in the U. N. Political Committee for an immediate Korean cease-fire, with negotiations to come later.

The committee, virtually exhausted after more than a month's argument, then suspended all talk on Korea until it hears Communist reaction to an Indian peace plan it approved last night.

Only the five Soviet bloc countries voted for the immediate cease-fire. Forty-one countries, including the United States, Britain, France and Nationalist China, opposed it. Twelve countries abstained. They were Afghanistan, Argentina, Burma, Egypt, India, Indonesia, Iran, Iraq, Lebanon, Pakistan, Saudi Arabia and Syria. Ecuador and Yemen were absent.

Neutrals Abstain

Soviet Foreign Minister Andrei Y. Vishinsky apparently intended to put the neutrals, such as India and other Asian and Arab countries, on the spot with his motion for a cease-fire now. They voted for the Indian peace plan approved by the committee yesterday, but they abstained today when the cease-fire idea was put up separately.

Little hope is held here that Red China and North Korea will accept the peace proposals approved by the committee. Representatives of the West said, however, that they wanted to make the attempt regardless of almost certain rejection.

Assembly Approval Expected

An American spokesman expressed satisfaction with the huge vote for the Indian plan in the committee. It had been amended to make it acceptable to the West, especially, Western sources said, to make certain there would be no forced repatriation of prisoners of war if its terms are finally accepted.

The General Assembly is expected to give quick approval to the committee's resolution on Korea. The next move after that action would be for the Assembly president, Lester B. Pearson of Canada, to dispatch it to Peiping and Pyongyang as a basis for what the committee called a just settlement of the prisoner of war problem.

Jessup To Quit Post January 19

WASHINGTON, Dec. 2. (AP) — It was made official today that Dr. Philip C. Jessup, ambassador-at-large and prime target of Sen. Joseph R. McCarthy, goes out of government service the day before the Republican administration takes over.

President Truman accepted his resignation, effective Jan. 19, with high praise for his services as an international troubleshooter and State Department adviser.

Jessup will go back to his faculty post at Columbia University, from which he has been on leave since 1948. There had been no doubt that he would get out of government with or before the change of administration.

Schoolboy Admits Killing Sweetheart

Greeson ordered Pat Chavez Alvillar, 16, held for investigation of murder in connection with the death of Barbara Hoppman.

Another 16-year-old, Carl Cecil Wofford, also of Tracy, was ordered held as a material witness.

Greeson said Alvillar's signed statement indicated the slaying was a case of "Russian roulette in reverse." He said there were apparently five slugs in the gun to start with, but only one in the chamber at the time of the shooting.

He quoted Wofford as relating that Alvillar and the girl "had words" and that Alvillar first pointed the .32 caliber revolver at Wofford. It did not fire.

Then he pointed it at the girl, Wofford stated, and it discharged. She died shortly before midnight of a bullet in the temple.

Venezuela Junta Resigns; Defense Chief Takes Helm

CARACAS, Venezuela, Dec. 2 (AP) — The three-man military junta, which has governed oil-rich Venezuela since its coup of 1948, resigned tonight in the wake of a general election.

Defense Minister Marcos Perez Jiminez, a key member of the junta, took over the presidency immediately.

In assuming the office, Perez Jiminez said he would respect the results of the Nov. 30 election for a constituent assembly.

The Supreme Electoral Council announced tonight that the pro-government Independent Electoral Front Party (FEI) was leading in the returns with 570,123 votes.

URD Second With 473,880

The opposition Democratic Republican Party (URD) had 473,880 votes, and the Christian Socialists (COPEI) 138,003, the electorial council declared.

(These results were at wide variance with preliminary unofficial returns published in the Caracas newspapers. The returns had showed the leftist opposition, URD, leading with 294,595 votes in a political upset, FEI a poor second with 147,528, and COPEI trailing with 89,095. These returns were published Monday night but were not disclosed abroad until the newspapers were received at Willemstadt, Curacao, Netherlands West Indies.

Censorship Imposed

(This dispatch was the first received from Caracas in more than 24 hours.)

The resignation of the junta was submitted to representatives of the armed forces in a ceremony at Miraflores Palace tonight and was broadcast nationwide.

Dr. German Suarez Flamerich was president of the junta and Lt. Col. Luis Felipe Llovera Paez was the third member.

Budget Includes Funds For Third Big Carrier

WASHINGTON, Dec. 2 (AP)—Secretary of Defense Lovett said today the new Defense Department budget would include money for the Navy to start construction of a third super aircraft carrier.

He made the statement in answering news conference questions about the prospects of beginning work on aonther 60,000 ton flattop. The budget includes the department's spending requests for the fiscal year beginning next July 1.

Lovett declared that inclusion of the new carrier item does not require the formal approval of the Joint Chiefs of Staff in which the Air Force had been opposed to the supercarrier program but only the "advice" of the joint chiefs. He said he had that advice.

86 On New Casualty List

WASHINGTON, Dec. 2 (AP)—The Defense Department today identified 86 Korean War casualties in a new list that included 18 dead 61 wounded, three missing and four injured.

Ike, Amateur Chef And Painter, Also Plays Harmonica

NEW YORK, Dec. 2 (AP)—President-elect Eisenhower, an amateur painter and an amateur chef, is a musician, too. He plays the harmonica.

So there'll still be music at the White House after Harry S. Truman, the piano playing President, moves out next month. Some of it will come from Mamie, who plays the piano.

A new harmonica, an imported model with a range big enough for sofe of the works of Beethoven or Brahms, was sent to the general today by Henry Feinberg, Manhattan music dealer who has known for some time about the general's fondness for a "mouth harp."

Gun Battle Brings Death To Officer

ATLANTA, Dec. 2 (AP)—A fierce gun battle witnessed by hundreds of school children and college students today brought death to a policeman and serious wounds to two other men.

The fight engaged scores of officers and one or more persons barricaded in a house near the Georgia Tech campus.

Patrolman W. M. (Tex) Richards, 56, was shot in the chest and wounded fatally shortly after he entered the house to investigate a hit-and-run automobile accident.

Another policeman, Sgt. Glenn (Red) Collins, was shot in the right side during the heavy firing.

An occupant of the house, identified by police as Homer Marvin Spruill, 50-year-old carpenter, was riddled by policemen's bullets. He was taken to a hospital in critical condition.

Spruill's two sons, Allen, 33, and James, 21, were taken into custody several hours after the fray. Both were charged with suspicion of shooting at another person in connection with the gun battle.

Deadly Cocktails Of Paint Thinner Kill Four Convicts

MONTGOMERY, Ala., Dec. 2 (AP)—Four convicts died in agony and seven others were left violently ill today after drinking paint thinner cocktails in a Sunday morning binge at Kilby Prison.

One of the survivors was on the doubtful list, but the other six were expected to recover, said State Prison Director J. M. McCullough.

Of those who died one was Desperado Troy Blackstock, 36, the elder of two brothers whose reign of terror across Southwest Alabama and Mississippi 11 years ago was climaxed by a sensational jail raid at Leakesville, Miss.

Troy's brother, Thomas Roy, also died violently in prison. The younger man, 29, at the time, was knifed to death three years ago in a fight with two other convicts.

Other victims of the poisonous paint thinner-orange juice highballs—besides Troy Blackstock were:

1. Calvin C. Roper, 26, serving 25 years for robbery in Dallas County, Ala., in July, 1951.

2. James Epps, 37, serving 10 years for robbery with an additional 11-year sentence for second degree murder.

3. D. C. Everett, 25, sentenced to two years for grand larceny.

Prison Director McCullough said the survivors told him a convict assigned to a painting detail smuggled the deadly drinks into a cell block. The paint thinner contained poisonous methyl alcohol.

Atty. General Orders Probe Of Lattimore

U. N. Archivist Refuses To Talk

[By The Associated Press]

The government moved on several fronts yesterday against suspected Communists or persons who have been accused of Red sympathies.

In New York, a federal grand jury warned the American people that "an overwhelmingly large group of disloyal United States citizens" has seeped into the United Nations.

The jurors urged that when their term of service ends another grand jury be impaneled to carry on their investigation of alleged subversion and espionage. They said the situation in the U. N. appears to be part of a "definite, planned pattern."

U. N. Archivist Clams Up

At another session of the Senate's Internal Security subcommittee in New York, Irving P. Schiller, archivist of the U. N.'s European headquarters in Geneva, refused to state whether he had ever been a member of the Communist Party.

Schiller did testify that he is not a Communist today. Before joining U. N., Schiller served in the U. S. Army and worked as a civil employe for the Navy and at the National Archives in Washington.

Attorney General McGranery announced in Washington there would be a grand jury investigation of Owen Lattimore, the Johns Hopkins University professor who was a central figure in the Internal Security Committee's probe of Far Eastern policy last spring.

Sen. McCarthy (R-Wis) has accused Lattimore of having been a Soviet espionage agent. Lattimore has vehemently denied it.

Did Lattimore Lie?

The grand jury proceedings will be concerned with whether Lattimore, a Chinese specialist and one-time consultant to the State Department told the truth when he was before the committee. The professor has said it is "fantastic" to believe that he committed perjury or had anything to commit perjury about.

The Army lodged fromal charges yesterday against Lt. Sheppard Carl Thierman, a 30-year-old medical officer who refused to tell the Internal Security Committee whether he was a Communist.

An Army spokesman said in Washington that Thierman has been charged with violation of a section of the military code dealing with "fraudulent enlistment, appointment or separation." He added an investigation will be made to determine whether the charges will be referred to a general court-martial.

Convict Who Held Family Prisoner Two Days Seized

WASHINGTON, Pa., Dec. 2 (AP)—One of five dangerous escaped convicts from Pittsburgh's Western State Penitentiary who held a family of five prisoners for two days was captured today in West Virginia less than 12 hours after making a new dash for freedom.

James Milk, 25, serving 10 to 20 years for robbery, was captured in a Western Union office at Charleston, W. Va. He was alone.

Milk was captured without a struggle as he went to the Western Union office for a money order for which he had wired to his home in Duquesne, near Pittsburgh.

Fled Prison Sunday

Pennsylvania State Police said Milk used the name of George Gagich, when he wired for the money.

Milk and four other prisoners fled after holing up from Sunday morning until early today at the home of Emile Lerby in the little mining town of Rea, near Washington, Pa.

Held at bay were Lerby's wife, Ethel, 42; her son-in-law, John Gagich; her daughter, Mrs. Mary Gagich, 23; and two grandchildren—John Gagich Jr., 6 months, and Marlene, 2. Lerby had gone hunting.

Convicts Took Cars, Guns

The convicts took the Lerby and Gagich cars, two guns, knives and clothes from the Lerby home and sped south toward West Virginia. Pennsylvania State Police Lt. Singleton Shaffer said. At Wheeling, W. Va., police said they believe an abandoned car found on the street may be one of the stolen vehicles. Another car was reoprted stolen a few blocks away.

Mrs. Lerby told state police the fugitives were "very gentlemanly and never abused us at anytime." They left when the entire family, exhausted from their long vigil, fell asleep early this morning.

Ike Invites Ruiz

MEXICO CITY, Dec. 2 (AP)—Mexico's new President Adolfo Ruiz Cortines tonight received a "permanent invitation" from President-elect Dwight D. Eisenhower to visit the White House after the Jan. 20 inaugural.

The invitation was delivered by Vice President-elect Richard Nixon.

Traffic In East Slowed By Snow

[By The Associated Press]

Millions of Americans plodded and splashed through snow and slush Tuesday.

The slippery coating on streets and roads put the brakes on travel and resulted in a rash of motor vehicle accidents.

Big areas of snow or sleet or rain or fog were marked off on the weather map.

The weather, in one bad form or another, was blamed for 13 deaths.

Snow that ranged up to six inches pelted a huge section of the nation. It extended from Illinois to the Atlantic Coast and from Washington, D. C., to New England.

Seven inches of snow, the first of the season and the heaviest since last December, piled up in Spokane, Wash.

The Rocky Mountain region also was peppered by snow. Several inches fell in the mountainous areas in Utah. Visibility on some highways was reduced almost to zero. A fall rangi ng up to seven inches was reported in some parts of Southern Idaho.

5½-Pound Baby Boy Born On Television

DENVER, Dec. 2 (INS)—A baby boy whose pounding heartbeat was broadcast to the world before he reached it was born tonight on television.

The five-pound, seven-ounce youngster arrived at 7:30 p. m. (MST) as an audience of millions of Americans watched on television screens across the nation.

Young Gordon Campbell—his last name was withheld by request—was born by Caesarean section before NBC network cameras in the delivery room of the Colorado General Hospital in Denver.

Election Curbs On Newspapers Are Proposed

WASHINGTON, Dec. 2 (AP)—Congressmen hunting a way to bring some order into the chaos of political campaign spending heard a surprise suggestion today for a curb on the amount of editorial space a newspaper may use to back a candidate.

That proposal, from Rep. Hoffman (R-Mich), was in sharp contrast to go-slow advice offered by Chairman Arthur E. Summerfield of the Republican National Committee. While he conceded that more workable limitations on spending are desirable, Summerfield said the whole problem of changing the rules for voter wooing should be approached with caution.

The Congressman and the GOP chairman, who is Gen. Dwight D. Eisenhower's selection to be postmaster general, were witnesses before a special House committee. The group headed by Rep. Hale Boggs (D-La) is concerned over loopholes in the law which permitted outlays in the recent campaign to soar into scores of millions of dollars. At the same time it is casting a critical eye at the letter of the rules which purport to limit outlays to amounts which witnesses call preposterously low for the era of airplane and television campaigning.

Official Canvass Shows Ike Won Md. By 104,087 Votes

ANNAPOLIS, Dec. 2 (AP)—President-elect Eisenhower carried Maryland by 104,087 votes, the official state canvass showed today.

Eisenhower polled 499,424 of the 902,074 votes cast. Gov. Adlai Stevenson of Illinois, his Democratic opponent, received 395,337. The Progressive Party candidate, Vincent A. Hallinan, got 7,313.

The figures were announced by the State Board of Cancassers, who certified tabulations forwarded by each county circuit court and Baltimore Superior Court.

Ballot totals listed for the board by J. P. Brock, administrative assistant to the secretary of state, also made Rep. J. Glenn Beall winner of the U. S. Senate contest by 43,453 votes. Beall, the Republican who succeeds Democrat Herbert R. O'Conor next month, polled 449,823 to 406,370 for George P. Mahoney.

The canvassers were Atty.-Gen. Edward D. E. Rollins, John R. Reeves, secretary of state, and Maurice Ogle, clerk of the Court of Appeals.

Maryland's Republican electors will rely on their report in casting their nine votes for Eisenhower on Dec. 15, the day the general's election becomes official across the country.

Totals in the Sixth District congressional race were State Sen. DeWitt S. Hyde, Republican, 94,603, and Mrs. Stella Werner, 69,050.

Orlando's Funeral Will Be Held Today

ROME, Dec. 2 (AP)—The body of Vittorio Emanuele Orlando lay in state today, dressed in the old black frock coat he wore when he stalked out of the Versailles peace conference and refused to sign the World War I peace treaty. The silver-maned "Premier of Victory" contended that treaty was unjust to Italy.

Beside his death bed, in a silver frame, was the yellowed telegram he received from Marshal Armando Diaz, announcing the entry of Italian troops into Trieste and Trent in 1918.

Orlando died last night at 92 after a week's illness.

Italy's schools were ordered closed tomorrow for the funeral.

TOKYO, Wednesday, Dec. 3 (AP)—The Peiping radio claimed today that U. S. B-26 light bombers raided the Chinese city of Antung on the Yalu River gateway to Korea Nov. 25, injuring five civilians.

Prober Lashes Book Publisher

WASHINGTON, Dec. 2 (AP)—Rep. Ezekiel Gathings (D-Ark) today accused a New York publishing firm of exploiting a picture of Rodin's statue, "The Kiss," as "misleading come-on advertising" for medical books dealing with sex.

The Rodin statue depicts a man and a woman, both nude, locked in an embrace.

Gathings, chairman of a special House committee investigating alleged obscene literature, levelled his criticism at Martin Scheer, an executive of the Eugenics Publishing Co., New York, which publishes books on sex written by physicians.

Staunchly defending his company's books as educational, Scheer said they deal with "maladjustment in marriage and the proper conduct in marriage."

Among the titles, he listed "Love, the Science of Sex Attraction," "The Art of Love," "The Torch of Life," and "The History of Prostitution."

With heavy sarcasm, Chairman Gathings asked Scheer:

"You're doing a great service to mankind by putting out this book, 'The History of Prostitution,' aren't you? When you go to bed at night, you're not happy, are you?"

"I'm happier than most people," Scheer retorted.

Grenade-Hurling Reds Harass South Koreans

SEOUL, Wednesday, Dec. 3 (AP)—Small 40-man units of grenade-hurling Chinese infantry harassed South Korean defenders of snowy Sniper Ridge Tuesday in the only siginificant finghting on the bitterly cold Korean front.

The Reds attacked Pinpoint Hill, highest point of Sniper Ridge, for nine hours in intermittent rushes but failed to dislodge the enternched Allies.

In the air, a pair of Sabre jet interceptors dueled two Communist MIGs over Northwest Korea and shot down one of them.

'Little Willie' Adams Sentenced To Prison

BALTIMORE, Dec. 2 (AP)—The Senate crime inquiry back in 1951 produced its first real victim in Baltimore today when "Little Willie" Adams was sentenced to seven years in prison.

Adams, a political figure, real estate promoter and former owner of a notorious Baltimore night spot, had been convicted of conspiracy to operate a numbers racket lottery.

His attorneys blamed it on the Senate inquiry. The only evidence against Little Willie, they argued, was the story he told to the Senate investigators. He should not be pnnished for that, they said, because he was trying to help the committee out and he tried to be a good citizen and answer all the committee's questions.

West Virginia Alumni Group Outlines Winter Activities

Former West Virginia University students of the tri-state area will open the winter program with a square and round dance Friday, December 12, at 9:30 p. m. at Minke's Cottage Inn, William P. Criswell, president of Potomac Chapter of the West Virginia Alumni Association, announced.

Mountaineer Football Coach Art Lewis will be a guest of the chapter at a meeting early in January, and the February meeting will feature a "West Virginia University Day" program celebrating the university's eighty-sixth anniversary. The dates for the January and February events will be announced later this month.

The December 12 dance, Criswell emphasized, is open to all former students at West Virginia and their friends. There is a possibility that a movie of one of West Virginia's football or basketball games will be shown before the dance.

In order to interest former students living in the tri-state region an effort will be made to hold meetings in Romney, Petersburg, Keyser, Moorefield and other county seats as soon as possible in 1953.

Soldier Asks Help For Korean Tots

An American soldier in Korea, appalled by the number of homeless children without food or clothing, has appealed to the people of Cumberland for assistance.

Airman 3/c James E. Bridges, who has made two similar requests to local newspapers to publicize good causes, wrote this appeal from Suwon, Korea, November 23.

He said:

"As you know, or probably have heard, we have what we call a war and some people call it a police action here in Korea which has left a lot of good people homeless, without food or clothing. I, from ten months of experience, know that only the strong can survive. The children are not strong enough to stand alone and there are thousands of them without parents, clothes, food or homes.

"Us GIs and all the other servicemen are helping as much as we can but we are having a hard time getting clothing for the little ones.

"If you would, I wish you would ask the people to please gather the used and outgrown clothing and send it to us for this needy cause. x x x"

8th Air Police Squadron,
APO 970, c/o P. M.,
San Francisco, Calif.

Bridges closed his note with a postscript that his two previous appeals have brought "wonderful results."

TV For House Hearings

Each committee of the new House of Representatives may decide for itself whether to allow radio and television for its hearings, says Speaker-to-be Joseph W. Martin. Thus the procedure in the House will fall in line with that in the Senate, where each committee may allow its proceedings to come before the public as did the Kefauver crime investigating body.

The present speaker, Rayburn of Texas, banned radio and TV from House committee hearings. He based his decision on House Rule 11, which says that the rules of the House, whose sessions are not put on the air, are to be the rules of its committees as far as practicable. No Senate rule similarly requires committees of the Senate to follow the rules of that body.

Several attempts were made in the House to overthrow the Rayburn ruling. They took the form of resolutions authorizing each House committee and subcommittee to decide for itself on radio and television. The resolutions were bottled up in the House Rules Committee, as was another for broadcasting and televising "important debates" in the House itself.

Several courts have ruled that witnesses may not refuse to testify because they are being televised. However, on October 6, 1952, Judge Schweinhaut of the federal bench in Washington, D. C., upheld two Cleveland witnesses who alleged a violation of their rights when ordered to testify before television and newsreel cameras at the Kefauver hearings. The judge declared that the "only reason for having a witness on the stand . . . is to get thoughtful (and) calm" testimony, and that a concentration of cameras and microphones might well so distract him as to make him say something "erroneous" and likely to "get him in trouble all over again."

The Men From The Boys

Several weeks ago four members of a sociology class of a small New Jersey college dressed in old clothes and mingled with the more or less happy citizens of New York's Skid Row, in the lower Bowery. What they discovered and the conclusions they drew may never get beyond their professor's desk. But their trip is now a matter of wide public interest because of an aftermath with some reverse English on it.

The other day five Skid Row characters visited the sociology class. Four of them were admittedly heavy drinkers, who said they could give it up at any time but they just didn't choose to do so. The other member of the delegation was a teetotaler.

Apparently there was no lack of aplomb on the part of the visitors and there was no lack of nervousness among the students. After peering blearily about, each of the self styled hoboes generously consented to an interview. Only one of the five insisted to the end that he was an out and out hobo. The others laid claim to being one-time men of distinction in various fields, including letters, philosophy and industry.

But observers got the impression of a definite air of hauteur about all of them, as if they had something in common. And indeed they did—disdain for regimentation. It isn't recorded that they told the classroom of curricula-bound students they were suckers, but there doesn't seem to be any doubt that this was implied. The visitors felt that hidebound refusal to submit to the accepted was what really separated the men from the boys.

In other words, it isn't easy to be a top flight hobo. One really has to work at it.

Nixons At Inauguration

Senator Nixon and his "Pat" get a close-up of the inauguration of a president before January 20. Our vice president-to-be was one of the high U. S. representatives at the ceremonies in Mexico City in which Adolfo Ruiz Cortines succeeds Miguel Aleman as president of Mexico. Mexico has no vice president to provide a counter-part to the job for which Nixon himself gets inaugurated on January 20.

The Mexican government took steps to prevent the inauguration at Mexico City from being thrown into turmoil by supporters of General Miguel Henriquez Guzman. These call the election returns fraudulent. The returns showed Ruiz Cortines receiving 74 per cent of the popular vote, with 16 per cent for Henriquez Guzman, eight per cent for Gonzales Luna, only two per cent for left-wing labor leader Toledano.

The Mexico inauguration is for a six-year term, with the inauguree ineligible to succeed himself. On January 20 Senator Nixon will be sworn in for a four-year term as vice president, with no ban on his eligibility for additional terms. The latest amendment to the U. S. Constitution, the 22nd, bars only a President from being elected more than twice; it fails to limit the number of elections of a vice president who remains vice president.

The members of both houses in the Mexican Congress are, like the Mexican president, ineligible for a successive term. In the new Congress, the administration holds all but eight of the 200-plus seats. Mexico has long been a one-party nation in that the opposition parties have no chance against the (Government) Party of Revolutionary Institutions, or PRI.

Stalin Joins In

Discussing Nicholas Basseches' new book, "Stalin," INS Foreign Director John H. Martin recently picked out a fantastic bit of fact and put it in a lead paragraph of a disptach. He wrote:

"Premier Stalin aids present Communist attempts to turn him into a deity by joining in the applause when he gets those long ovations at Moscow meetings."

That is, of course, a factual statement. Stalin does clap his hands when speakers eulogize him and when he does he helps along the movement, which surely exists in Russia, to make him into something more than human. But to say that is not to solve the mystery. Why does Stalin applaud his applauders, in public, when modesty calls for motionless silence?

Basseches, an American by blood who was born in Moscow and lived there until he was expelled in 1937, says Stalin shouldn't be charged with indulging in self-applause. He says Stalin takes part as if the praise were directed at someone else. "He tries," says Basseches, "to become one of the collectivity."

His feeling seems to be that Stalin only does it because he thinks of himself as two persons—Dictator Stalin, the demi-god, and plain Comrade Stalin who is just like everybody else.

Reading some of these encomiums, many persons have been moved to wonder that human invention could produce such fulsome compliments.

Breathing Exercises In Emphysema

Emphysema is a common lung condition in which the air sacs are overdistended. The disorder is difficult to treat but an encouraging report appeared recently which may offer the ray of hope for which many victims have been looking. The treatment in question involves a series of simple breathing exercises to increase air capacity.

The lungs are composed of thousands of tiny air sacs which open and close with each breath. They can be distended considerably without damage provided pressure is released quickly. On the other hand, the walls surrounding the air sacs lose their elasticity should distention persist. When this occurs the alveoli (air sacs) remain filled with stagnant air, simulating a state of perpetual inspiration. To obtain oxygen the individual must breathe harder which is relatively easy while resting but becomes a real problem whenever exertion is attempted. At this time shortness of breath and blueness of the lips and skin will appear.

There are many causes of emphysema. When a piece of tenacious mucus or other substance partially obstructs the bronchi in a valve-like fashion, the alveoli become distended because air that has entered cannot escape. This was a common occurrence when diphtheria was on the rampage and the membrane obstructed the windpipe. Today, asthma, chronic bronchitis, and whooping cough are more prevalent causes, as well as tumors that press upon the windpipe or obstruct it from within. Any alteration in the size and shape of the thorax also leads to emphysema. This is prone to occur in elderly men and women who have developed a stooping posture with a chest that is deeper from front to back. Those with a large abdomen suffer a somewhat similar effect; the increased weight of the abdominal contents pulls down the diaphragm. At any rate, these changes spread the air sacs apart, which produces the same results as overdistention.

The disturbance never develops overnight; it is acquired slowly and the first evidence is puffing and shortness of breath on exertion. Bronchitis usually coexists, especially in winter and in time becomes one of the most aggravating features of emphysema. The presence of bronchitis also influences treatment because most sufferers prefer an equable, mild climate where they are not forced to contend with getting wet and chilled. Dusty areas are taboo because the particles irritate the mucous membranes. Some breathe easier when wearing an abdominal binder or belt because such supports tend to push up the diaphragm.

Respiratory exercises are done to help the breathing mechanism. It is surprising how much air can be obtained by relaxing the muscles that move the chest and allowing the abdominal muscles to do the work. The expiratory phase of respiration is the most important feature. The emphysematous individual has difficulty getting rid of air, hence must concentrate on expiration, which means that exhaling should become active rather than passive. This is the first lesson and is mastered by learning to take in air thru the nose, allowing the abdomen to protrude and at the same time relaxing the chest wall and throat. The air is then expired thru the mouth by constricting the abdomen. The breathing pattern must fit into the activities of the day while lifting, walking, and climbing stairs. According to Dr. Warde B. Allan, this type of respiration, once learned, is carried on even during sleep. The results to date have been good.

Tomorrow: Dr. Van Dellen discusses acute and chronic carbon monoxide poisoning.

New Agriculture Secretary Owes Appointment To Sen. Watkins; Wall Street Journal Weighs Millionaire Credit Risk; Ike Wants To Strengthen GOP

WASHINGTON—Though Senator Taft got credit for appointing his distant cousin, Ezra Taft Benson, as secretary of Agriculture, actually it was another senator, Watkins of Utah, who worked backstage to put his fellow Mormon across.

Taft had first recommended Sen. Frank Carlson of Kansas to be secretary of Agriculture — some said because he didn't want a man so close to Ike in the Senate where he, rather than Taft, would be viewed as Presidential spokesman.

Ike in turn told Carlson he could have the Agriculture Department if he wanted it, though he preferred having him operate from the vantage of the Senate.

So Carlson, who has never pushed himself forward, began pushing Congressman Clifford Hope of Kansas, chairman of the House cabinet post instead. Meanwhile, Sen. Fred Seaton of Nebraska pushed retiring Gov. Val Peterson of Nebraska.

However, Allan Kline of the Farm Bureau was apposed to Congressman Hope because of Hope's views on parity, while brother Milton Eisenhower had rowed with Hope when Milton was president of Kansas State College. Finally, Gen. Wilton Persons pointed out that if Hope retired from the House Agriculture Committee, Congressman Andresen of Minnesota, a dairyman, would take over. This would be resented in the oleomargarine-minded South.

Meanwhile, with Carlson deciding to remain in the Senate, Senator Watkins of Utah persuaded Taft to get behind Benson, also of Utah. Taft cleared Benson with Milton Eisenhower, and the President-Elect, figuring he couldn't go wrong with both his brother and Taft behind a man, appointed Benson.

The appointment, however, has already stirred up a lot of controversy among soil conservationists.

NOTE—By pushing Benson, Senator Watkins may have partly blocked Marriner Eccles, former New Dealer, now a stanch Republican, who ran against Watkins in the Utah primary, from getting any important job under Eisenhower. Eccles, former chairman of the Federal Reserve Board who won the undying enmity of Harry Truman, has been under consideration for an Eisenhower appointment; but no President can favor too many men from one state.

Millionaire Credit Risk???

Congressman Thurmond Chatham, North Carolina Democrat whose family manufactures the famous Chatham blankets, tried to insert an ad, "For sale—by Democrat," in two well-known New York publications.

Chatham wanted to sell his Georgetown house, figured he could interest incoming Republicans by advertising in the Wall Street Journal and the New Yorker.

Replied Melville Price, advertising manager of the New Yorker: "We acknowledge with thanks your check for $155.40. Both Jack Cogswell and I wish there was some way we could whack up the agency commission between us, what with the approach of Christmas and all. Of course, next year we won't need it when we have no more taxes to pay and pie in the sky."

But the staid Wall Street Journal regarded the "For sale by a Democrat" as a credit risk.

"Your ad as it now stands measures 14 agate lines (the minimum for the real estate corner) and at the rate of $1.10 per line will cost $15.40 for one insertion," it wrote Chatham.

Then, to the scion of a family which operates one of the biggest textile plants in the South, the Wall Street Journal suspiciously concluded:

"If you are a subscriber, listed in Dun and Bradstreet, or have previously established credit with our firm, we shall be glad to open an account in your name. Otherwise, may we have payment with order?"

NOTE — Congressman Chatham was not defeated in the last election. He is merely moving from a smaller house into a bigger one, having bought the beautiful mansion once owned by the late James Forrestal for $187,000.

GOP Patronage

General Eisenhower had a significant meeting the other day with early Ike-booster Wes Roberts, who helped win various GOP primaries and who is now under consideration as new GOP national chairman.

Ike told Roberts that he was worried over the national committee's future, wanted to strengthen both it and state GOP committees, planned to hand out plenty of patronage at below the rank of cabinet. Jobs such as assistant secretaries of Defense, Army, Navy, Commerce, Interior, Treasury will be given out through state and national GOP committees—provided the committees, in turn, come up with good men.

Eisenhower especially stressed the fact that the job-holders must have ability.

He also indicated that he wanted to use patronage to clean up certain local situations, such as that in Pennsylvania where bitter GOP factions have been at swords' points—Taft supporter Mason Owlett, Sen. Ed Martin, Gov. John Fine who had such a hard time making up his mind between Taft and Ike; and Sen. Jim Duff who boils over when Fine's name is mentioned.

Eisenhower said he wanted to strengthen Duff, make him the real Republican leader of Pennsylvania. In brief, Fine is now going to bask in the sunshine of Ike's smile.

NOTE—The general did not say who he wants to become new GOP chairman, replacing Arthur Summerfield; but the three top men under consideration are Roberts, Wayne Hood, and Ralph Cake of Oregon.

Two Vacant Jobs

Congressman John Taber, New York Republican, will fire two investigators for the House Appropriations Committee the minute he becomes chairman of that committee January 20—provided they're not fired first.

John Donnelly, chief committee investigator, was sent to North Africa to probe air-base scandals by the present committee chairman, Democrat Clarence Cannon of Missouri. While in Europe, Donnelly engaged Tim Donovan, who not only had a criminal record, but was working for the Atlas Corporation, one of the companies Donovan and Donnelly were investigating.

According to Congressman Taber, Donovan and Donnelly even had the gall to try to work a tax dodge. The first he heard about the employment of Donovan, says the chairman-to-be, was "when Mr. Donnelly wanted to pay Donovan through the Atlas Corporation so he could dodge tax and not have it deducted.

"I told the acting clerk that I was not chairman of the committee, but that if I were chairman, I would not only terminate Mr. Donovan, but I would order Mr. Donnelly home on termination."

NOTE The two investigators also ran through $2,500 expense money in less than a month.

Inside Washington

WASHINGTON — The deaths of AFL President William Green and CIO President Philip Murray within the space of two weeks does not necessarily mean that the era of personal leadership in labor unions is at an end.

The new crop of labor chieftains gives every reason to believe that the big unions will continue to reflect the distinct personalities of their individual leaders.

Up-and-coming leaders in the CIO include fiery Walter Reuther of the United Automobile Workers; James B. Carey, CIO secretary-treasurer, who also heads the electrical Workers, and Joseph A. Beirne, of the Communications Workers.

The AFL has its virile leaders also and possibly the greatest individualist of them all is that former AFL and CIO leader, John L. Lewis, the president of the United Mine Workers.

Shangri-La (GOP Style)

President-elect Dwight D. Eisenhower's choice of Augusta, Ga., as a vacation spot is a pretty good tip-off on where Ike will go if he follows the pattern of his Democratic predecessors in setting up what amounts to a winter White House.

As is well known, President Truman has been partial to the warm sun of remote Key West, Fla., for his winter vacation junkets. He has regularly set up temporary residence there.

However, Ike apparently prefers a somewhat cooler climate. Augusta in winter sometimes has a crisp chill in the air but rarely ever bitter cold. Moreover, the golfing facilities are superb, which is right down General Eisenhower's alley.

The new President, of course, has that celebrated farmstead outside Gettsyburg, Pa., but Pennsylvania scarcely seems a likely choice for a winter vacation.

Ike's strong preference for Augusta is further emphasized by the fact that he has vacationed there several other times since the end of World War II.

Big Time

Along some of the other economy lines, President-elect Eisenhower fits right in. However, despite the President-elect's announced preference of a "simple" inauguration ceremony January 20, the public is expected to decide otherwise.

This will be the first inauguration of a Republican President since 1928 and every indication is that it will be made into a big occasion despite the general's wishes.

Senator Styles Bridges (R), New Hampshire, chairman of the congressional inaugural committee, which has over-all charge of the program, says his group already is being swamped with requests for tickets to the January affair.

No Vacancy

Washington real estate agents think the Republican victory may contribute to an even greater housing shortage in the capital. Builders and rental agents are not expecting a mass exodus of Democrats.

Many of the administration officials have "gone native." They have become well settled in their neighborhoods, formed close friends and reared children here.

For these reasons, many Democrats are looking for private jobs in Washington. Even if they are not successful in finding new jobs immediately, realtors think they will hesitate a long time before selling their old homes.

It appears now that the newcomers will have to go far out in the Maryland and Virginia suburbs for family dwellings. One enterprising real estate group in a county outside the district is already mailing a list of available properties to incoming congressmen.

Today In Washington

By DAVID LAWRENCE

WASHINGTON — Three objectives were achieved by President-elect Eisenhower in appointing Martin P. Durkin to be secretary of Labor.

It is an unwritten law of politics that, if possible, there should be at least one Catholic in the cabinet. It is also considered desirable to appoint a pro-union man to be secretary of Labor. It is likewise important to recognize the minority party.

Mr. Durkin is a Catholic, a Democrat who supported Stevenson, and president of the National Plumbers Union affiliated with the American Federation of Labor.

In recent years there has been a tendency to avoid appointing either a CIO or an AFL man because of the rivalry between the two labor organizations. Before the split occurred, AFL men were twice appointed to the cabinet portfolio known as the Department of Labor. Since it appears that the AFL and CIO may unite soon, the fact that an AFL leader was chosen is not likely to set up any new antagonism from the CIO.

Used Good Judgment

The President-elect has certainly shown excellent judgment in appointing Mr. Durkin. It means that union labor will have direct access to the White House. It means also that the new President will have at his elbow a man who can tell him how labor will react to various proposals of public policy. Likewise, General Eisenhower will have a spokesman who can interpret the views of his administration to labor and the public.

A cabinet is supposed to be representative of a variety of interests. Certainly the appointment of Sinclair Weeks of Boston to be secretary of Commerce brings to the cabinet a man who knows the background of business and finance. So also does George Humphrey, the new secretary of the Treasury, whose experience has been in large industries.

Now that the entire cabinet has been selected, it may be said that it represents a balance as between political as well as economic viewpoints.

John Foster Dulles reflects the international-co-operation doctrines of American policy from the time the Republican administration of 1920 entered into a naval-limitation agreement and a treaty outlawing war.

Charles E. Wilson reflects the new approach to the main problem of the Defense Department, which is to eliminate waste and get production of armament from business and industry going on an efficient basis. It is a business rather than a military job.

Herbert Brownell is one of the ablest lawyers in the country, and his willingness to take the portfolio of attorney general is a welcome sign of the sacrifices being made today by successful men to go into government service.

Ezra Taft Benson is an experienced and trained agricultural expert and his selection as secretary of Agriculture has been hailed by farm organizations as an excellent choice.

Governor Douglas McKay of Oregon, who is to become secretary of the Interior, knows the problems of reclamation and development of natural resources, particularly from the western viewpoint.

Arthur Summerfield, a successful business man, will, as postmaster general, give the American people a businesslike administration of the postal service.

All in all, the President-elect has picked his own men on the basis of merit. Where he has made his selections, he has not looked for pro-Taft or pro-Dewey men as such but has sought out the ablest men, and it so happens that both wings of the Republican party have representation.

Probably the appointment of the new secretary of Labor will come as the biggest surprise. For here a Democrat who didn't support Eisenhower is given a cabinet post of far-reaching importance. It will be noted that Mr. Durkin served the Democratic administration of Governor Horner in Illinois as state labor director and he helped to establish and manage a health and accident division, an unemployment compensation system, and a state conciliation and mediation service. This means he probably will ask that the U. S. Conciliation Service go back to the Department of Labor, though Congress will finally decide that question.

It is a good cabinet — one of the best in the last 50 years. It is a cabinet of men who have been successful in their vocations — men who bring to the government service both ability and integrity.

These Days

By GEORGE E. SOKOLSKY

House Cleaning

The new attorney general, Herbert Brownell, Jr., will undoubtedly be pressed by so-called liberals to let the subversive cases die a natural death without further excitement. However, Russian espionage never ceases because it is a normal weapon of Soviet imperialism. Therefore, in spite of all efforts made heretofore to clean house, new vermin constantly make their appearance.

House cleaning is a permanent job that can never end. Nor can a house be cleaned by hiding the dust, silverfish and roaches under the carpet. It has been the policy of the Department of Justice to cover up. It had the facts from the FBI but would not use them. Attorney General McGranery has been making an effort but his term has been short and his assistants inadequate and dilatory.

I want to quote an example from the McCarran Committee to show how deeply set is the espionage activity of the American citizens. The deponent is Eugene Wallach, a stenotypist employed by the United Nations. According to the committee's counsel, Robert Morris, Wallach has been an open member of the Communist party. So Senator Homer Ferguson asked him this question:

"As a member of the Communist party, would you say, if a man was a member, he was an espionage agent?

"Mr. Wallach. Sir, under the Fifth Amendment to the United States Constitution I decline to answer that question.

"Senator O'Conor. Have you ever been engaged in any subversive activities against the United States Government?

"Mr. Wallach. Sir, under the Fifth Amendment to the United States Constitution I must decline to answer that question. I don't consider that—well, my answer stands at that."

An American is entitled under the Constitution to claim immunity from self-incrimination. He is free to avoid perjury by insisting that the Fifth Amendment to the Constitution gives him the right to refuse to answer at all on the ground that to answer truthfully would be a confession of guilt. While exercising that right, the deponent has no way of preventing other citizens from accepting such a defense as an admission of anything from an error of judgment to participation in a crime.

When a man is asked, for instance, whether he is now engaged in espionage against his own country and he cannot answer "No!" without danger of being held for perjury if nothing worse, then he has admitted guilt in the eyes of the public even if the guilt cannot be proved by the rules of evidence in a court. And whenever there is a conflict between public opinion, in such a country as ours, and judicial decision, public opinion prevails.

Herbert Brownell, Jr., as attorney general, will face this situation. The propaganda against the Smith Act and the McCarran Act by so-called liberals, who are really acting as protectors of Communists and other subversives, does not count for much because public opinion demands an immediate house cleaning as regards Communists, subversives and other vermin. That is one reason why Eisenhower was elected. The liberal-minded gentle folks who would let subversives remain in our government to preserve some doctrinaire position can well be disregarded as American public opinion is against them and will remain so.

The Republican administration has no alternative but to pursue the course of house cleaning, because the people expect it. The record is clear that Communists, subversives and opportunists have entered the government because someone opened the door and let them in. Often the door opener is a very proper person, who could not even be suspected of an ideological position left of Calvin Coolidge, but who, for all his stuffiness, opened the door.

There are just as many Republicans of this kind as there are Democrats, and the stuffier they are, the more likely they will be of developing a vested interest in their first mistakes. To such men, "face" is as important as it used to be to a mandarin. Some of our statesmen have that type of psychology that puts personal pride before common sense, and it is even truer among great industrialists turned politician.

Therefore, the role of Herbert Brownell, Jr., becomes increasingly important because this job can best be done in the Department of Justice where the FBI has the data. There it can be done swiftly, pro-forma and without dramatics. House cleaning should be a matter of routine as every woman knows.

TV For House Hearings

Each committee of the new House of Representatives may decide for itself whether to allow radio and television for its hearings, says Speaker-to-be Joseph W. Martin. Thus the procedure in the House will fall in line with that in the Senate, where each committee may allow its proceedings to come before the public as did the Kefauver crime investigating body.

The present speaker, Rayburn of Texas, banned radio and TV from House committee hearings. He based his decision on House Rule 11, which says that the rules of the House, whose sessions are not put on the air, are to be the rules of its committees as far as practicable. No Senate rule similarly requires committees of the Senate to follow the rules of that body.

Several attempts were made in the House to overthrow the Rayburn ruling. They took the form of resolutions authorizing each House committee and subcommittee to decide for itself on radio and television. The resolutions were bottled up in the House Rules Committee, as was another for broadcasting and televising "important debates" in the House itself.

Several courts have ruled that witnesses may not refuse to testify because they are being televised. However, on October 6, 1952, Judge Schweinhaut of the federal bench in Washington, D. C., upheld two Cleveland witnesses who alleged a violation of their rights when ordered to testify before television and newsreel cameras at the Kefauver hearings. The judge declared that the "only reason for having a witness on the stand . . . is to get thoughtful (and) calm" testimony, and that a concentration of cameras and microphones might well so distract him as to make him say something "erroneous" and likely to "get him in trouble all over again."

The Men From The Boys

Several weeks ago four members of a sociology class of a small New Jersey college dressed in old clothes and mingled with the more or less happy citizens of New York's Skid Row, in the lower Bowery. What they discovered and the conclusions they drew may never get beyond their professor's desk. But their trip is now a matter of wide public interest because of an aftermath with some reverse English on it.

The other day five Skid Row characters visited the sociology class. Four of them were admittedly heavy drinkers, who said they could give it up at any time but they just didn't choose to do so. The other member of the delegation was a teetotaler.

Apparently there was no lack of aplomb on the part of the visitors and there was no lack of nervousness among the students. After peering blearily about, each of the self styled hoboes generously consented to an interview. Only one of the five insisted to the end that he was an out and out hobo. The others laid claim to being one-time men of distinction in various fields, including letters, philosophy and industry.

But observers got the impression of a definite air of hauteur about all of them, as if they had something in common. And indeed they did—disdain for regimentation. It isn't recorded that they told the classroom of curricula-bound students they were suckers, but there doesn't seem to be any doubt that this was implied. The visitors felt that hidebound refusal to submit to the accepted was what really separated the men from the boys.

In other words, it isn't easy to be a top flight hobo. One really has to work at it.

Nixons At Inauguration

Senator Nixon and his "Pat" get a close-up of the inauguration of a president before January 20. Our vice president-to-be was one of the high U. S. representatives at the ceremonies in Mexico City in which Adolfo Ruiz Cortines succeeds Miguel Aleman as president of Mexico. Mexico has no vice president to provide a counter-part to the job for which Nixon himself gets inaugurated on January 20.

The Mexican government took steps to prevent the inauguration at Mexico City from being thrown into turmoil by supporters of General Miguel Henriquez Guzman. These call the election returns fraudulent. The returns showed Ruiz Cortines receiving 74 per cent of the popular vote, with 16 per cent for Henriquez Guzman, eight per cent for Gonzales Luna, only two per cent for left-wing labor leader Toledano.

The Mexico inauguration is for a six-year term, with the inauguree ineligible to succeed himself. On January 20 Senator Nixon will be sworn in for a four-year term as vice president, with no ban on his eligibility for additional terms. The latest amendment to the U. S. Constitution, the 22nd, bars only a President from being elected more than twice; it fails to limit the number of elections of a vice president who remains vice president.

The members of both houses in the Mexican Congress are, like the Mexican president, ineligible for a successive term. In the new Congress, the administration holds all but eight of the 200-plus seats. Mexico has long been a one-party nation in that the opposition parties have no chance against the (Government) Party of Revolutionary Institutions, or PRI.

Stalin Joins In

Discussing Nicholas Basseches' new book, "Stalin," INS Foreign Director John H. Martin recently picked out a fantastic bit of fact and put it in a lead paragraph of a disptach. He wrote:

"Premier Stalin aids present Communist attempts to turn him into a deity by joining in the applause when he gets those long ovations at Moscow meetings."

That is, of course, a factual statement. Stalin does clap his hands when speakers eulogize him and when he does he helps along the movement, which surely exists in Russia, to make him into something more than human. But to say that is not to solve the mystery. Why does Stalin applaud his applauders, in public, when modesty calls for motionless silence?

Basseches, an American by blood who was born in Moscow and lived there until he was expelled in 1937, says Stalin shouldn't be charged with indulging in self-applause. He says Stalin takes part as if the praise were directed at someone else. "He tries," says Basseches, "to become one of the collectivity."

His feeling seems to be that Stalin only does it because he thinks of himself as two persons—Dictator Stalin, the demi-god, and plain Comrade Stalin who is just like everybody else.

Reading some of these encomiums, many persons have been moved to wonder that human invention could produce such fulsome compliments.

Breathing Exercises In Emphysema

Emphysema is a common lung condition in which the air sacs are overdistended. The disorder is difficult to treat but an encouraging report appeared recently which may offer the ray of hope for which many victims have been looking. The treatment in question involves a series of simple breathing exercises to increase air capacity.

The lungs are composed of thousands of tiny air sacs which open and close with each breath. They can be distended considerably without damage provided pressure is released quickly. On the other hand, the walls surrounding the air sacs lose their elasticity should distention persist. When this occurs the alveoli (air sacs) remain filled with stagnant air, simulating a state of perpetual inspiration. To obtain oxygen the individual must breathe harder which is relatively easy while resting but becomes a real problem whenever exertion is attempted. At this time shortness of breath and blueness of the lips and skin will appear.

There are many causes of emphysema. When a piece of tenacious mucus or other substance partially obstructs the bronchi in a valve-like fashion, the alveoli become distended because air that has entered cannot escape. This was a common occurrence when diphtheria was on the rampage and the membrane obstructed the windpipe. Today, asthma, chronic bronchitis, and whooping cough are more prevalent causes, as well as tumors that press upon the windpipe or obstruct it from within. Any alteration in the size and shape of the thorax also leads to emphysema. This is prone to occur in elderly men and women who have developed a stooping posture with a chest that is deeper from front to back. Those with a large abdomen suffer a somewhat similar effect; the increased weight of the abdominal contents pulls down the diaphragm. At any rate, these changes spread the air sacs apart, which produces the same results as overdistention.

The disturbance never develops overnight; it is acquired slowly and the first evidence is puffing and shortness of breath on exertion. Bronchitis usually coexists, especially in winter and in time becomes one of the most aggravating features of emphysema. The presence of bronchitis also influences treatment because most sufferers prefer an equable, mild climate where they are not forced to contend with getting wet and chilled. Dusty areas are taboo because the particles irritate the mucous membranes. Some breathe easier when wearing an abdominal binder or belt because such supports tend to push up the diaphragm.

Respiratory exercises are done to help the breathing mechanism. It is surprising how much air can be obtained by relaxing the muscles that move the chest and allowing the abdominal muscles to do the work. The expiratory phase of respiration is the most important feature. The emphysematous individual has difficulty getting rid of air, hence must concentrate on expiration, which means that exhaling should become active rather than passive. This is the first lesson and is mastered by learning to take in air thru the nose, allowing the abdomen to protrude and at the same time relaxing the chest wall and throat. The air is then expired thru the mouth by constricting the abdomen. The breathing pattern must fit into the activities of the day while lifting, walking, and climbing stairs. According to Dr. Warde B. Allan, this type of respiration, once learned, is carried on even during sleep. The results to date have been good.

New Agriculture Secretary Owes Appointment To Sen. Watkins; Wall Street Journal Weighs Millionaire Credit Risk; Ike Wants To Strengthen GOP

WASHINGTON—Though Senator Taft got credit for appointing his distant cousin, Ezra Taft Benson, as secretary of Agriculture, actually it was another senator, Watkins of Utah, who worked backstage to put his fellow Mormon across.

Taft had first recommended Sen. Frank Carlson of Kansas to be secretary of Agriculture — some said because he didn't want a man so close to Ike in the Senate where he, rather than Taft, would be viewed as Presidential spokesman.

Ike in turn told Carlson he could have the Agriculture Department if he wanted it, though he preferred having him operate from the vantage of the Senate.

So Carlson, who has never pushed himself forward, began pushing Congressman Clifford Hope of Kansas, chairman of the House cabinet post instead. Meanwhile, Sen. Fred Seaton of Nebraska pushed retiring Gov. Val Peterson of Nebraska.

However, Allan Kline of the Farm Bureau was apposed to Congressman Hope because of Hope's views on parity, while brother Milton Eisenhower had rowed with Hope when Milton was president of Kansas State College. Finally, Gen. Wilton Persons pointed out that if Hope retired from the House Agriculture Committee, Congressman Andresen of Minnesota, a dairyman, would take over. This would be resented in the oleomargarine-minded South.

Meanwhile, with Carlson deciding to remain in the Senate, Senator Watkins of Utah persuaded Taft to get behind Benson, also of Utah. Taft cleared Benson with Milton Eisenhower, and the President-Elect, figuring he couldn't go wrong with both his brother and Taft behind a man, appointed Benson.

The appointment, however, has already stirred up a lot of controversy among soil conservationists.

NOTE—By pushing Benson, Senator Watkins may have partly blocked Marriner Eccles, former New Dealer, now a stanch Republican, who ran against Watkins in the Utah primary, from getting any important job under Eisenhower. Eccles, former chairman of the Federal Reserve Board who won the undying enmity of Harry Truman, has been under consideration for an Eisenhower appointment; but no President can favor too many men from one state.

As is well known, President Truman has been partial to the warm sun of remote Key West, Fla., for his winter vacation junkets. He has regularly set up temporary residence there.

However, Ike apparently prefers a somewhat cooler climate. Augusta in winter sometimes has a crisp chill in the air but rarely ever bitter cold. Moreover, the golfing facilities are superb, which is right down General Eisenhower's alley.

The new President, of course, has that celebrated farmstead outside Gettsyburg, Pa., but Pennsylvania scarcely seems a likely choice for a winter vacation.

Ike's strong preference for Augusta is further emphasized by the fact that he has vacationed there several other times since the end of World War II.

Big Time

Along some of the other economy lines, President-elect Eisenhower fits right in. However, despite the President-elect's announced preference of a "simple" inauguration ceremony January 20, the public is expected to decide otherwise.

This will be the first inauguration of a Republican President since 1928 and every indication is that it will be made into a big occasion despite the general's wishes.

Senator Styles Bridges (R), New Hampshire, chairman of the congressional inaugural committee, which has over-all charge of the program, says his group already is being swamped with requests for tickets to the January affair.

No Vacancy

Washington real estate agents think the Republican victory may contribute to an even greater housing shortage in the capital. Builders and rental agents are not expecting a mass exodus of Democrats.

Many of the administration officials have "gone native." They have become well settled in their neighborhoods, formed close friends and reared children here.

For these reasons, many Democrats are looking for private jobs in Washington. Even if they are not successful in finding new jobs immediately, realtors think they will hesitate a long time before selling their old homes.

It appears now that the newcomers will have to go far out in the Maryland and Virginia suburbs for family dwellings. One enterprising real estate group in a county outside the district is already mailing a list of available properties to incoming congressmen.

Today In Washington

By DAVID LAWRENCE

WASHINGTON — Three objectives were achieved by President-elect Eisenhower in appointing Martin P. Durkin to be secretary of Labor.

It is an unwritten law of politics that, if possible, there should be at least one Catholic in the cabinet. It is also considered desirable to appoint a pro-union man to be secretary of Labor. It is likewise important to recognize the minority party.

Mr. Durkin is a Catholic, a Democrat who supported Stevenson, and president of the National Plumbers Union affiliated with the American Federation of Labor.

In recent years there has been a tendency to avoid appointing either a CIO or an AFL man because of the rivalry between the two labor organizations. Before the split occurred, AFL men were twice appointed to the cabinet portfolio known as the Department of Labor. Since it appears that the AFL and CIO may unite soon, the fact that an AFL leader was chosen is not likely to set up any new antagonism from the CIO.

Used Good Judgment

The President-elect has certainly shown excellent judgment in appointing Mr. Durkin. It means that union labor will have direct access to the White House. It means also that the new President will have at his elbow a man who can tell him how labor will react to various proposals of public policy. Likewise, General Eisenhower will have a spokesman who can interpret the views of his administration to labor and the public.

A cabinet is supposed to be representative of a variety of interests. Certainly the appointment of Sinclair Weeks of Boston to be secretary of Commerce brings to the cabinet a man who knows the background of business and finance. So also does George Humphrey, the new secretary of the Treasury, whose experience has been in large industries.

Now that the entire cabinet has been selected, it may be said that it represents a balance as between political as well as economic viewpoints.

John Foster Dulles reflects the international-co-operation doctrines of American policy from the time the Republican administration of 1920 entered into a naval-limitation agreement and a treaty outlawing war.

Charles E. Wilson reflects the new approach to the main problem of the Defense Department, which is to eliminate waste and get production of armament from business and industry going on an efficient basis. It is a business rather than a military job.

Herbert Brownell is one of the ablest lawyers in the country, and his willingness to take the portfolio of attorney general is a welcome sign of the sacrifices being made today by successful men to go into government service.

Ezra Taft Benson is an experienced and trained agricultural expert and his selection as secretary of Agriculture has been hailed by farm organizations as an excellent choice.

Governor Douglas McKay of Oregon, who is to become secretary of the Interior, knows the problems of reclamation and development of natural resources, particularly from the western viewpoint.

Arthur Summerfield, a successful business man, will, as postmaster general, give the American people a businesslike administration of the postal service.

All in all, the President-elect has picked his own men on the basis of merit. Where he has made his selections, he has not looked for pro-Taft or pro-Dewey men as such but has sought out the ablest men, and it so happens that both wings of the Republican party have representation.

Probably the appointment of the new secretary of Labor will come as the biggest surprise. For here a Democrat who didn't support Eisenhower is given a cabinet post of far-reaching importance. It will be noted that Mr. Durkin served the Democratic administration of Governor Horner in Illinois as state labor director and he helped to establish and manage a health and accident division, an unemployment compensation system, and a state conciliation and mediation service. This means he probably will ask that the U. S. Conciliation Service go back to the Department of Labor, though Congress will finally decide that question.

It is a good cabinet — one of the best in the last 50 years. It is a cabinet of men who have been successful in their vocations — men who bring to the government service both ability and integrity.

These Days

By GEORGE E. SOKOLSKY

House Cleaning

The new attorney general, Herbert Brownell, Jr., will undoubtedly be pressed by so-called liberals to let the subversive cases die a natural death without further excitement. However, Russian espionage never ceases because it is a normal weapon of Soviet imperialism. Therefore, in spite of all efforts made heretofore to clean house, new vermin constantly make their appearance.

House cleaning is a permanent job that can never end. Nor can a house be cleaned by hiding the dust, silverfish and roaches under the carpet. It has been the policy of the Department of Justice to cover up. It had the facts from the FBI but would not use them. Attorney General McGranery has been making an effort but his term has been short and his assistants inadequate and dilatory.

I want to quote an example from the McCarran Committee to show how deeply set is the espionage activity of the American citizens. The deponent is Eugene Wallach, a stenotypist employed by the United Nations. According to the committee's counsel, Robert Morris, Wallach has been an open member of the Communist party. So Senator Homer Ferguson asked him this question:

"As a member of the Communist party, would you say, if a man was a member, he was an espionage agent?

"Mr. Wallach. Sir, under the Fifth Amendment to the United States Constitution I decline to answer that question.

"Senator O'Conor. Have you ever been engaged in any subversive activities against the United States Government?

"Mr. Wallach. Sir, under the Fifth Amendment to the United States Constitution I must decline to answer that question. I don't consider that—well, my answer stands at that."

An American is entitled under the Constitution to claim immunity from self-incrimination. He is free to avoid perjury by insisting that the Fifth Amendment to the Constitution gives him the right to refuse to answer at all on the ground that to answer truthfully would be a confession of guilt. While exercising that right, the deponent has no way of preventing other citizens from accepting such a defense as an admission of anything from an error of judgment to participation in a crime.

When a man is asked, for instance, whether he is now engaged in espionage against his own country and he cannot answer "No!" without danger of being held for perjury if nothing worse, then he has admitted guilt in the eyes of the public even if the guilt cannot be proved by the rules of evidence in a court. And whenever there is a conflict between public opinion, in such a country as ours, and judicial decision, public opinion prevails.

Herbert Brownell, Jr., as attorney general, will face this situation. The propaganda against the Smith Act and the McCarran Act by so-called liberals, who are really acting as protectors of Communists and other subversives, does not count for much because public opinion demands an immediate house cleaning as regards Communists, subversives and other vermin. That is one reason why Eisenhower was elected. The liberal-minded gentle folks who would let subversives remain in our government to preserve some doctrinaire position can well be disregarded as American public opinion is against them and will remain so.

The Republican administration has no alternative but to pursue the course of house cleaning, because the people expect it. The record is clear that Communists, subversives and opportunists have entered the government because someone opened the door and let them in. Often the door opener is a very proper person, who could not even be suspected of an ideological position left of Calvin Coolidge, but who, for all his stuffiness, opened the door.

There are just as many Republicans of this kind as there are Democrats, and the stuffier they are, the more likely they will be of developing a vested interest in their first mistakes. To such men, "face" is as important as it used to be to a mandarin. Some of our statesmen have that type of psychology that puts personal pride before common sense, and it is even truer among great industrialists turned politician.

Therefore, the role of Herbert Brownell, Jr., becomes increasingly important because this job can best be done in the Department of Justice where the FBI has the data. There it can be done swiftly, pro-forma and without dramatics. House cleaning should be a matter of routine as every woman knows.

Glen Burnie Man Sues Local Woman

Suit for $1,500 damages was filed in Circuit Court yesterday by Richard L. Buckingham, of Glen Burnie, against Mary Irene Goetz, 619 North Mechanic Street, as a result of a collision between his car with the defendant's machine on U. S. Route 1 between Baltimore and Washington on July 24, 1950.

The declaration, docketed for Buckingham by W. Earle Cobey, attorney, states that the defendant was driving in the slow lane ahead of the plaintiff and when he attempted to pass his car collided with her vehicle.

Buckingham claims that the defendant moved over in front of him without warning while attempting to make a left or U turn. He claims he suffered a permanent scar of the forehead and suffered from shock as a result of his injuries. He said the damage to his car amounted to $506.95.

Youth Released To Enter Navy

Accused of breaking into the home of a relative, Dewey Lytle, 17, Flintstone, was released yesterday in Juvenile Court after he voiced intentions of enlisting in the Navy.

Magistrate Alban C. Thompson dismissed a delinquency charge so the youth could enter service with a "clean record," according to State Police.

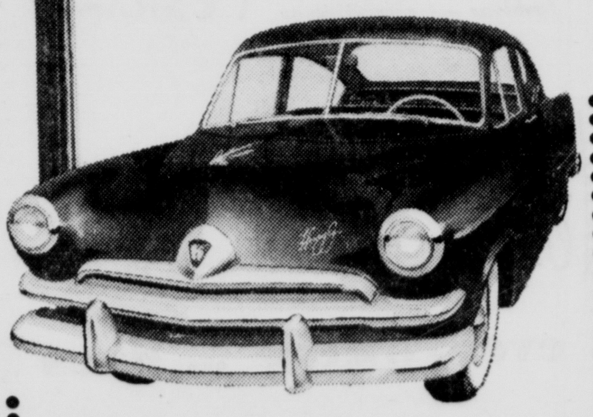

Lytle was arrested Sunday after Mr. and Mrs. Harry Dolly, Flintstone, found their bedroom curtains afire. Lytle was standing nearby, they said, adding that a year-old baby was asleep in the same room. The fire was checked before it caused serious damage.

Trooper Robert D. Wolford said Lytle denied igniting the curtains. However, the youth was unable to explain his presence in the Dolly home.

Algonquin Chapter NSA Inaugurates Test Periods

A new idea for meeting programs was presented at the fifth anniversary dinner meeting of Algonquin Chapter, National Secretaries Association, Monday at Central YMCA.

Miss Dorothy Lee Campbell suggested having ten minute test periods on different phases of the business world, with a discussion following. She pointed out that in this way the secretaries may keep posted on up-to-date information concerning all phases of the secretarial field. Miss Campbell stressed the fact that along with the refresher course this type of program would be helpful for the annual CPS examination. Miss Campbell, Miss Garnet Fazenbaker and Miss Lucille Malin were appointed in charge of the project for the remainder of the year.

Miss Margaret Lester presided and announced that each member is to leave something for the Christmas basket for the Associated Charities at the Cut Rate Shoe Store, Baltimore Street, by December 22.

The group also discussed the gift-wrapping station operated by the group for the past two years, and it was decided not to have gift wrapping this year. Routine reports were given.

Following the business session, Miss Anna McGraw introduced Dan Hansen of the Dictaphone Company, guest for the evening. He showed a moving picture, "Take a Letter, Please," presenting all types of ways bosses dictate. He also demonstrated the advantages of the latest model.

Mr. Hansen acted as Santa Claus for the Christmas party following the program. Games were played and prizes won by Miss Dorothy Hillegas and Miss Patricia Golden. Refreshments were served after the entertainment. There were 29 members present.

Mrs. George Henderson announces that the Garden Group meeting for today is postponed until December 10, at 2 in the Public Library.

Jingles are to be exchanged at the party.

Other members of the club are Mrs. Robert Sutton, Mrs. Fred Gates Jr., Mrs. T. E. Williamson, Mrs. Ernest Fauss, Mrs. D. E. Moore and Mrs. Nelson Kaylor.

Doris Arnold Heads Club

Having a Christmas window display was discussed and officers were elected at the meeting of the Rawlings Junior 4-H Club recently at the home of Janice Horton. The display will be at Armstrong's store for Christmas.

Doris Arnold was named president; Dorothy Arnold, vice president; Donna Simpson, secretary; Patricia McCoy, treasurer and Janice Horton, Publicity chairman.

An invitation to attend a demonstration at 10 a. m. Saturday at the Potomac Edison room was received. Approximately one dozen gifts were wrapped for an orphanage; Mrs. William Railey showed the group how to make Christmas corsages; the 4-H pledge was given, two songs sung and reports given.

The next meeting will be a jingle party, December 18 at 4 p. m., at the home of Mrs. Railey.

Art, Literature Groups To Meet

There will be a combined meeting of the Art and Literature groups of the Woman's Civic Club, tomorrow at 2 o'clock at the Public Library.

Mrs. John G. Cook, former teacher of English at Frostburg State Teachers College, is reading "favored poems," and Mrs. DeLisle Chaney will discuss ceramics.

Fairview Avenue WSCS To Hold Yule Party

The WSCS of Fairview Avenue Church will hold its Christmas party in the form of a dinner at 6 tonight in the church social hall.

The tragic story behind Fanny Brice's song "My Man"

When she sang this plaintive ballad, she won the hearts of millions. But the cheers never ended her grief. For behind the throbbing lyrics was the story of her own devotion to the man who mocked her love. Here is Norman Katkov's story of Fabulous Fanny and the man she was never able to forget. Read it in the December Ladies' Home Journal.

Organized with 13 charter members on March 28, 1909, the class was named in honor of the late Dr. E. T. Duke. The late Albert Grant was the last of the charter members. R.E.L. Bowie was the first president and W. C. Montignani, secretary of the Baltimore and Ohio YMCA, first teacher. The class has had 40 presidents with only five serving more than one term. Other charter members were Dr. Duke, D. F. Kuykendall, Arthur Warfield, J. R. Warfield, James Grant, George Schaffer, Emory Edwards, Matthew Sloan, Alexander Sloan, Harry K. Duke, William McFarlane and William Miller.

Lloyd Rawlings who is the oldest in point of membership, is among the past presidents, has been leader of the class orchestra and served both as secretary and treasurer.

A musical program will be presented at the Christmas party of the Cumberland Branch AAUW tonight at the home of Mrs. John Cupler II, Park Heights.

The class has an enrollment of 100 men with Howard Perrin as teacher.

Ralph Lewis, program director of Central YMCA, will be the speaker. J. Walter McKee, secretary, is to read the names for the memorial service and will be assisted by John Slack and Harvey Stouffer. All past presidents attending are to receive special honor. The program is to close with the group singing of "Blest Be the Tie," as benediction.

Major Elmer Wall and Charles E. Shaw will be special guests.

Algonquin Chapter NSA Inaugurates Test Periods

A new idea for meeting programs was presented at the fifth anniversary dinner meeting of Algonquin Chapter, National Secretaries Association, Monday at Central YMCA.

Miss Dorothy Lee Campbell suggested having ten minute test periods on different phases of the business world, with a discussion following. She pointed out that in this way the secretaries may keep posted on up-to-date information concerning all phases of the secretarial field. Miss Campbell stressed the fact that along with the refresher course this type of program would be helpful for the annual CPS examination. Miss Campbell, Miss Garnet Fazenbaker and Miss Lucille Malin were appointed in charge of the project for the remainder of the year.

Miss Margaret Lester presided and announced that each member is to leave something for the Christmas basket for the Associated Charities at the Cut Rate Shoe Store, Baltimore Street, by December 22.

The group also discussed the gift-wrapping station operated by the group for the past two years, and it was decided not to have gift wrapping this year. Routine reports were given.

Following the business session, Miss Anna McGraw introduced Dan Hansen of the Dictaphone Company, guest for the evening. He showed a moving picture, "Take a Letter, Please," presenting all types of ways bosses dictate. He also demonstrated the advantages of the latest model.

Mr. Hansen acted as Santa Claus for the Christmas party following the program. Games were played and prizes won by Miss Dorothy Hillegas and Miss Patricia Golden. Refreshments were served after the entertainment. There were 29 members present.

Mrs. George Henderson announces that the Garden Group meeting for today is postponed until December 10, at 2 in the Public Library.

The tragic story behind Fanny Brice's song "My Man"

When she sang this plaintive ballad, she won the hearts of millions. But the cheers never ended her grief. For behind the throbbing lyrics was the story of her own devotion to the man who mocked her love. Here is Norman Katkov's story of Fabulous Fanny and the man she was never able to forget. Read it in the December Ladies' Home Journal.

Sewing Club Is Holding Yule Dinner

Mrs. Stanley Demski, Mrs. Jon S. Cranor Jr., and Mrs. Raymond Swach will be hostesses to members of the Thursday Sewing Club for a Christmas dinner. It is being held at the home of Mrs. Demski, 563 Rose Hill Avenue, tomorrow.

Assorted Christmas decorations are being used throughout the house, and a pine and Christmas balls arrangement will center the table with candles at either end.

Jingles are to be exchanged at the party.

Other members of the club are Mrs. Robert Sutton, Mrs. Fred Gates Jr., Mrs. T. E. Williamson, Mrs. Ernest Fauss, Mrs. D. E. Moore and Mrs. Nelson Kaylor.

Doris Arnold Heads Club

Having a Christmas window display was discussed and officers were elected at the meeting of the Rawlings Junior 4-H Club recently at the home of Janice Horton. The display will be at Armstrong's store for Christmas.

Doris Arnold was named president; Dorothy Arnold, vice president; Donna Simpson, secretary; Patricia McCoy, treasurer and Janice Horton, Publicity chairman.

An invitation to attend a demonstration at 10 a. m. Saturday at the Potomac Edison room was received. Approximately one dozen gifts were wrapped for an orphanage; Mrs. William Railey showed the group how to make Christmas corsages; the 4-H pledge was given, two songs sung and reports given.

The next meeting will be a jingle party, December 18 at 4 p. m., at the home of Mrs. Railey.

Art, Literature Groups To Meet

There will be a combined meeting of the Art and Literature groups of the Woman's Civic Club, tomorrow at 2 o'clock at the Public Library.

Mrs. John G. Cook, former teacher of English at Frostburg State Teachers College, is reading "favored poems," and Mrs. DeLisle Chaney will discuss ceramics.

Fairview Avenue WSCS To Hold Yule Party

The WSCS of Fairview Avenue Church will hold its Christmas party in the form of a dinner at 6 tonight in the church social hall.

A program, "The Gift of the Christmas Fairy," will be presented after the dinner. The evening will conclude with a jingle party.

Bowie was the first president and W. C. Montignani, secretary of the Baltimore and Ohio YMCA, first teacher. The class has had 40 presidents with only five serving more than one term. Other charter members were Dr. Duke, D. F. Kuykendall, Arthur Warfield, J. R. Warfield, James Grant, George Schaffer, Emory Edwards, Matthew Sloan, Alexander Sloan, Harry K. A musical program will be presented at the Christmas party of the Cumberland Branch AAUW tonight at the home of Mrs. John Cupler II, Park Heights.

The class has an enrollment of 100 men with Howard Perrin as teacher.

Ralph Lewis, program director of Central YMCA, will be the speaker. J. Walter McKee, secretary, is to read the names for the memorial service and will be assisted by John Slack and Harvey Stouffer. All past presidents attending are to receive special honor. The program is to close with the group singing of "Blest Be the Tie," as benediction.

Major Elmer Wall and Charles E. Shaw will be special guests.

NOW, MORE THAN EVER, THE HEART OF FASHION IN THE TRI-STATE AREA

How correct are you in your business letters? Check your form for heading and salutations!

Secrets Of Charm

by John Robert Powers

How good are you at beginnings? In letter writing, often getting started is the hardest part, especially in social notes.

In business correspondence, you've got a ready-made opener. The only one that will pass muster is writing correctly the recipient's name, address and the salutation. The propriety with which you do this makes the first bid at the other end for careful and interested attention to your communication.

Business Form

Judging the length of your letter as well as you can, try to center it on the page. The date should be placed so it ends at the right margin of the page. Dropping down about one inch and crossing over to the left margin, place the address of the firm you are writing or the individual.

Never abbreviate the name of a firm. Preface the full name of an individual with Mr., Mrs., or Miss. Any title such as "treasurer" follows the name. The name of the firm is placed on the next line, the street address on the following line, and the city, postal zone and state on the last line.

Now leave two spaces or about half an inch and pen the salutation. And here's where women in and out of business often find themselves in a big mix-up. How would you write the salutation for Whitney and Company? "Dear Sirs," of course.

Salutations

But how would you address the Mary Anne Dress Company? "Dear Sirs" is the proper answer again. Only when a company is inseparably identified with female ownership would you ever use "Mesdames" — and even then "Dear Sirs" would still be excellent form. And, of course you would never make the astounding error of writing "Dear Whitney and Company" or "Dear Mary Anne Dress Company" — even though it is an error more commonly made than you might suspect!

This is how it all lines up:

Methodist Ministers Group Holds Meeting At Paw Paw

The Methodist Ministers Association, composed of churches of that denomination in the area, met Monday at Paw Paw Church.

Worship was conducted by Rev. Kenneth N. Show, a student at Westminster Seminary.

Ministers were advised that a library is available to them at Centre Street Methodist Church and books may be obtained by calling in person and signing for them. Rev. John Bayley Jones, C. L. Beard and W. W. Patterson were appointed to keep the library up to date, according to Rev. B. F. Hartman, president of the association.

Rev. R. M. Crowe reported on the Teachers' Training School which has one more session Thursday at Centre Street Church. He said attendance has been good but not as many denominations as expected are taking part.

Many ministers at the session commented on recent visits by Bishop G. Bromley Oxnam. The bishop averaged 20 calls a day, it was reported.

Rev. Reid Isaac, Baltimore, superintendent of children's homes of the Baltimore Conference, gave a brief history of the homes and outlined plans for future years.

Rev. H. C. Marsh, Hagerstown District superintendent, gave information on the preaching mission in the sub-district in March, 1953.

Women of the Paw Paw Church served a meal at noon and ministers were then taken on a tour of the Paw Paw packing house. Each received a bushel of apples.

Methodist Ministers Group Holds Meeting At Paw Paw

The Methodist Ministers Association, composed of churches of that denomination in the area, met Monday at Paw Paw Church.

Worship was conducted by Rev. Kenneth N. Show, a student at Westminster Seminary.

Ministers were advised that a library is available to them at Centre Street Methodist Church and books may be obtained by calling in person and signing for them. Rev. John Bayley Jones, C. L. Beard and W. W. Patterson were appointed to keep the library up to date, according to Rev. B. F. Hartman, president of the association.

Rev. R. M. Crowe reported on the Teachers' Training School which has one more session Thursday at Centre Street Church. He said attendance has been good but not as many denominations as expected are taking part.

Many ministers at the session commented on recent visits by Bishop G. Bromley Oxnam. The bishop averaged 20 calls a day, it was reported.

Rev. Reid Isaac, Baltimore, superintendent of children's homes of the Baltimore Conference, gave a brief history of the homes and outlined plans for future years.

Rev. H. C. Marsh, Hagerstown District superintendent, gave information on the preaching mission in the sub-district in March, 1953.

Women of the Paw Paw Church served a meal at noon and ministers were then taken on a tour of the Paw Paw packing house. Each received a bushel of apples.

Friction Between GIs, Britons Caused By "Good Time Girls"

The presence of 40,000 U. S. servicemen in Britain has created a big problem for American military and civilian authorities anxious to keep on good terms with the British population. In the following article, second of a series, one of the main sources of the problem is disclosed.

By ROBERT A. WIENER
INS Staff Correspondent

LONDON —(INS)— "Good time girls" looking for "the Yankee dollar" are blamed for much of the friction between American servicemen and British civilians.

U. S. military spokesmen and British civilian authorities also lay the blame for anti-American feeling existing in towns near American air bases to such things as drunken brawls in taverns or streets, abusive language by some GI's and occasional clashes between U. S. Air Force police and civilians.

In some cases anti-British feeling has been generated when American servicemen and their wives have been "stung" by British landlords, shopkeepers and cab drivers.

And everywhere the Communists are quick to exploit the slightest bit of friction between American and Briton, capitalizing on an undercurrent of anti-American feeling.

Police and military authorities say most of the complaints about U. S. servicemen are brought about because of "camp followers," the age-old problem of every army.

These camp followers have recently been concentrating on the university city of Oxford, which is near three big American air bases.

Street fights between GIs and civilians have also tended to create ill feeling against the Air Force in Manchester. Nearby is the big Burtonwood Air Base with some 5,000 American servicemen.

A few weeks ago a gang of thugs attacked two air police patrols in Manchester. The Air Force promptly restricted passes to the city for three days to avoid further trouble.

The Communist Daily Worker made the most of this with a blaring five-column headline:

"GIs are barred from Manchester; too unpopular with the people."

The Daily Worker and other Communist publications have extracted the utmost from every incident involving American servicemen. When an American GI stole a crucifix in a suburban London church, the Worker headlined:

"Sacrilege: New U. S. crime in Britain; American Air Force tries to hush up the facts."

The U. S. Air Force says it apologized as soon as it verified what had happened. The serviceman was promptly court-martialed.

Signs reading "Go Home Yank" or "Americans go home" have been painted on walls and road underpasses in Manchester, Oxford, London and the east coast town of Broadstairs. But they were more frequent a year ago than they are now.

Military and civilian authorities believe these to be the work of Communists.

Prostitution of a varying degree of seriousness exists in most towns and cities near American air bases. It is to a large extent non-professional.

U. S. military authorities say they are wholly dependent on the British to keep prostitution under control. Asked why no severe crackdown had been made, a high-ranking officer replied:

"Have you ever read the British laws on prostitution? They are very lax."

When the Air Force returned to Burtonwood in 1946, the town became the mecca for so-called "good time girls." They flocked in from Manchester only 18 miles away, especially on pay day.

Civilian police cooperated with the Air Force to discourage such visitors. Police met them at the station and promptly escorted them to trains going back to the city.

Today the problem mainly concerns girls of 15, 16 and 17. This youthful prostitution is prevalent in Manchester and has recently spread to Oxford.

Oxford authorities have begun a drive to rid the city of these girls. Recently two girls aged 17 and 18 were fined $5.60 each on charges of "obstructing public footpaths by loitering."

Lt. Col. A. J. Marigold, U. S. Air Force probation officer, said:

"Our trouble in Oxford is not altogether with local girls but with recognized camp followers who come in from outside areas. The problem, however, has not reached alarming proportions."

Oxford police report only six serious incidents involving American servicemen in the past year. They regard this as very low for the number of servicemen in the area.

In the small towns of East Anglia, police officials also say it is the girls from "other towns" who create a problem. They say only a few local girls, who would have gone "astray" in any case, are involved.

Police Superintendent F. Calvert of King's Lynn, a town of 26,000 near one big base, declared:

"The professional prostitutes have always flocked to communities near military installations and always will. We have a realistic understanding of the problem and keep it under control."

While misbehavior by a few American servicemen has caused anti-American feeling in some areas, in others there is very little such feeling.

William Ainsworth, deputy chief constable of Cambridge, described reports of anti-Americanism there as "a lot of hooey in the papers." He added:

"The GIs here are a more professional type than those who were here during the war. The only anti-American sentiment in Cambridge is held by a few cranks with a bee in their bonnet."

H. H. Higgins, editor of the Cambridge Daily News, said that aside from a few U. S. servicemen who get into trouble on weekends and paydays, there is little problem with the GIs who flock to the city.

"I'm worried over all this talk of anti-Americanism," Higgins said. "Aside from a few agitators at the university, the people of Cambridge welcome the American servicemen with open arms.

"We had many of them here during the war and they presented no problem. They don't today. There are also many American students at the university who make excellent ambassadors for the United States and fit into community life splendidly."

On The Line

by Bob Considine

NEW YORK — (INS) — A good thing to be thankful for, it seems to me, is that the two great political parties of the U. S. are no longer united in the unholy bonds of acrimony.

Some pretty rough language was being used by both sides less than a month ago. The candidates themselves were usually in good taste in their remarks, but below that top echelon there was more mud and more smear than in any campaign since 1928.

In that 1928 campaign a group that opposed Al Smith secured a picture of him cutting the ribbon in ceremonies opening New York's independent subway and circulated the picture with a new caption — asserting that it was a hitherto unrevealed shot of Smith opening a secret underground passage to the Vatican.

The 1952 campaign didn't quite get that raw, but it got real low down. After Mr. Truman threw his hat in the ring the issues pro and con hinged on responsibilities for the war in Korea, Gen. Eisenhower's fitness for the post, the men around Gov. Stevenson, Pendergastism, the influence of Taft and Dewey on Eisenhower and his tacit or open endorsement of several Democratic Party targets, notably Sens. McCarthy and Kem. Previously, and to the end, the Democrats leaped with gusto on Nixon.

Overseas, our enemies (especially those with short memories) must have rubbed their hands in glee. The United States of America plainly was coming apart at the seams. The President was telling the voters that he had made a terrible mistake in once admiring Eisenhower. Eisenhower's spokesmen were saying things about the President which, if said about a leader behind the Iron Curtain, would mean imprisonment or death for the offender.

As the fever pitch rose in the U. S., some of our enemies must have awaited only the hour when there would be open war between the rival factions, followed by anarchy, followed by the rising up of the Reds who have been schooled in Moscow to take over the U. S. when and if.

Then we voted. It was a quiet sunny day. After they voted they took the kids for a ride, or played golf, and sat home and relaxed — and when the votes were counted Eisenhower had won.

There was no civil war. No strife. No marching to Union Square to hear an address by the new commissar. The stock market went up a little, the people who had voted for Stevenson shrugged and said, "He was fine, we thought, and still think, but Ike's a good man, too." The people who voted for Ike assured one and all that they knew it all along; that Stevenson was a good sport, and that it sure is a nice country.

Of all the campaigners in the field, the President had been the most vigorous. His first message to the victor was phrased in such a way as to indicate that Eisenhower's promise to go to Korea if elected might have been a campaign pledge and little else. But after that, the President showed perhaps more cooperation with the President-elect than had ever before been displayed.

A stillness settled over the bars of the land. Mr. Stevenson looked forward to a law career and an occasional speech when the situation demanded it, in his estimation. Ike played golf, began to choose his cabinet, packed for Korea. The change of management in the biggest business in the world — the U. S. government — proceeded evenly. People still went to work, gave their seats to old ladies on the bus, laughed at Milton Berle.

We had gone through a stupendous rebirth of a long defunct party, while even our friends abroad shuddered, and emerged from it the same as we entered it — Americans, not just members of political camps. What a blow this miracle of forgiving and forgetting must be to those who wish us ill.

On The Line

by Bob Considine

NEW YORK — (INS) — A good thing to be thankful for, it seems to me, is that the two great political parties of the U. S. are no longer united in the unholy bonds of acrimony.

Some pretty rough language was being used by both sides less than a month ago. The candidates themselves were usually in good taste in their remarks, but below that top echelon there was more mud and more smear than in any campaign since 1928.

In that 1928 campaign a group that opposed Al Smith secured a picture of him cutting the ribbon in ceremonies opening New York's independent subway and circulated the picture with a new caption — asserting that it was a hitherto unrevealed shot of Smith opening a secret underground passage to the Vatican.

The 1952 campaign didn't quite get that raw, but it got real low down. After Mr. Truman threw his hat in the ring the issues pro and con hinged on responsibilities for the war in Korea, Gen. Eisenhower's fitness for the post, the men around Gov. Stevenson, Pendergastism, the influence of Taft and Dewey on Eisenhower and his tacit or open endorsement of several Democratic Party targets, notably Sens. McCarthy and Kem. Previously, and to the end, the Democrats leaped with gusto on Nixon.

Overseas, our enemies (especially those with short memories) must have rubbed their hands in glee. The United States of America plainly was coming apart at the seams. The President was telling the voters that he had made a terrible mistake in once admiring Eisenhower. Eisenhower's spokesmen were saying things about the President which, if said about a leader behind the Iron Curtain, would mean imprisonment or death for the offender.

As the fever pitch rose in the U. S., some of our enemies must have awaited only the hour when there would be open war between the rival factions, followed by anarchy, followed by the rising up of the Reds who have been schooled in Moscow to take over the U. S. when and if.

Then we voted. It was a quiet sunny day. After they voted they took the kids for a ride, or played golf, and sat home and relaxed — and when the votes were counted Eisenhower had won.

There was no civil war. No strife. No marching to Union Square to hear an address by the new commissar. Magazine Honors Local Food Mart

A Cumberland store has been honored with a McCall's magazine citation for "distinguished service through advertising."

Albert's Super Market, Inc., Wineow Street, competed with more than 2,600 super markets in the United States and Canada in the fourth annual McCall's Magazine—Super Market Institute Advertising Awards contest.

The company's advertising was selected to receive honorable mention in the awards which were submitted by super markets from all parts of the nation.

In making the citation to store executives at the top management meeting of the institute recently in Los Angeles, Calif., William B. Carr, advertising director of McCall's, said, "The super market is performing a significant service in distributing food at low cost to the American family and a vital tool in lowering distribution costs of food is effective newspaper advertising that keeps the housewife informed, aiding her in her job as purchasing agent for the average American family."

Drunken Driving Hearing Postponed

A Trail Magistrates Court hearing for Charles E. Stutzman, business agent for Local 453 Teamsters Union (AFL), who is charged with driving while under the influence of alcohol, was postponed for a second time yesterday.

Stutzman was arrested last Tuesday morning on North Mechanic Street by Officers Robert R. Hammann, James E. Snyder, Leo E. P. Law and George Furstenberg.

He was held until court opened at 9:15 a. m., when he won a postponement of the case until yesterday. The hearing yesterday was postponed until Friday because Stutzman was attending contract negotiation sessions in Richmond, Va.

The hearing is set for Friday at 9:15 a. m. before Magistrate J. Milton Dick.

In May 1950, Stutzman was fined for drunken driving and his license was suspended for a time.

A Cumberland store has been honored with a McCall's magazine citation for "distinguished service through advertising."

Albert's Super Market, Inc., Wineow Street, competed with more than 2,600 super markets in the United States and Canada in the fourth annual McCall's Magazine—Super Market Institute Advertising Awards contest.

The company's advertising was selected to receive honorable mention in the awards which were submitted by super markets from all parts of the nation.

In making the citation to store executives at the top management meeting of the institute recently in Los Angeles, Calif., William B. Carr, advertising director of McCall's, said, "The super market is performing a significant service in distributing food at low cost to the American family and a vital tool in lowering distribution costs of food is effective newspaper advertising that keeps the housewife informed, aiding her in her job as purchasing agent for the average American family."

Drunken Driving Hearing Postponed

A Trail Magistrates Court hearing for Charles E. Stutzman, business agent for Local 453 Teamsters Union (AFL), who is charged with driving while under the influence of alcohol, was postponed for a second time yesterday.

Stutzman was arrested last Tuesday morning on North Mechanic Street by Officers Robert R. Hammann, James E. Snyder, Leo E. P. Law and George Furstenberg.

He was held until court opened at 9:15 a. m., when he won a postponement of the case until yesterday. The hearing yesterday was postponed until Friday because Stutzman was attending contract negotiation sessions in Richmond, Va.

The hearing is set for Friday at 9:15 a. m. before Magistrate J. Milton Dick.

In May 1950, Stutzman was fined for drunken driving and his license was suspended for a time.

Dressen Signs Third One-Year Pact As Pilot

Dodgers Seek Spahn, Joe Black OKs Terms

By JACK HAND

PROENIX, Ariz., Dec. 2 (AP) — Chuck Dressen signed a third one-year contract to manage the Brooklyn Dodgers today at a reported $35,000 salary as the minor leagues continued their talent search in the draft sessions.

CHUCK DRESSEN

Ever since Dressen led the Dodgers to the National League pennant last September it was assumed he would return. This makes it official.

No salary was announced by E. J. "Buzzy" Bavasi, Dodger vice-president, who said the 54-year-old skipper had received a "substantial increase". It was reliably reported to be about $35,000.

Seek Bullpen Coach

Dressen said he would retain his present coaching stall of Billy Herman, Jake Pitler and Cookie Lavagetto but would hire a new bullpen coach to replace George Pfister, headed for a minor league managing job.

At the request of Dressen, who said it always is an honor to be the first player signed, Bavasi revealed Pitcher Joe Black, the Dodgers' relief ace, had come to terms. Here again the salary represented a substantial increase, probably $15,000.

Bavasi said the club is looking for a first line starting pitcher and was ready to give up front line players for the right man.

Angling For Spahn

No names were mentioned but it is known the Brooks hope to land Warren Spahn from the Boston Braves and probably would toss First Baseman Gil Hodges and Outfielder Carl Furillo into the deal.

While the Dodgers were signing Dressen, the complicated draft machinery of the minor leagues shifted into gear. It appeared that the selection would follow the trend of the majors yesterday who drafted the only 11 men, a low since 1945.

The Pacific Coast League, given special rating as an open classification last winter, picked only four men for $23,500 from the lower leagues. They were not permitted to select from the two Triple A class leagues—the International and American Association.

Minors Draft Players

In the Triple A draft, the International selected six and the American Association four for a total of 10 at a cost of $56,000. The combination of open and Triple A drafts was 14 as compared with 18 a year ago when the Coast League drafted with the Triple A leagues.

The two Class Double A leagues —Southern Association and Texas —and the four Class A leagues—Western, South Atlantic, Eastern and Western International—also drafted. Class B and Class C will select tomorrow.

Notre Dame's Lattner To Get Maxwell Award

Voted Outstanding Gridder For 1952

PHILADELPHIA, Dec. 2 (AP) — Notre Dame's two-platoon halfback, John Lattner, today was named the outstanding college football player of 1952 by the Maxwell Memorial Football Club.

John Lattner

The six foot, one inch, 190-pound ace of the upset-minded Irish, will receive his award Jan. 13 at the annual Maxwell Club dinner. Ed "Moose" Krause, Notre Dame athletic director, will make the principal speech at the dinner.

Lattner is the second Notre Dame player to be honored by the Maxwell Club since the award was started in 1937. The club was organized in memory of Robert "Tiny" Maxwell, a former football official who was killed in an automobile accident. The other Notre Dame winner was big Leon Hart, who now plays for the Detroit Lions in the National Football League.

Lattner joins the select circle of Maxwell award winners that includes:

Clint Frank, Yale; Davey O'Brien, Texas Christian; the late Nile Kinnick, Iowa; Tom Harmon, Michigan; Bill Dudley, Virginia; Paul Governali, Columbia; Bob O'Dell, Penn; Glenn Davis, Army; Doc Blanchard, Army; Charley Trippi, Georgia; Doak Walker, Southern Methodist; Charles Bednarik, Penn; Francis Bagnell, Penn; Hart, and last year's winner, Dick Kazmaier of Princeton.

Dressen Signs Third One-Year Pact As Pilot

By JACK HAND

PHOENIX, Ariz., Dec. 2 (AP) — Chuck Dressen signed a third one-year contract to manage the Brooklyn Dodgers today at a reported $35,000 salary as the minor leagues continued their talent search in the draft sessions.

CHUCK DRESSEN

Ever since Dressen led the Dodgers to the National League pennant last September it was assumed he would return. This makes it official.

No salary was announced by E. J. "Buzzy" Bavasi, Dodger vice-president, who said the 54-year-old skipper had received a "substantial increase". It was reliably reported to be about $35,000.

Seek Bullpen Coach

Dressen said he would retain his present coaching stall of Billy Herman, Jake Pitler and Cookie Lavagetto but would hire a new bullpen coach to replace George Pfister, headed for a minor league managing job.

At the request of Dressen, who said it always is an honor to be the first player signed, Bavasi revealed Pitcher Joe Black, the Dodgers' relief ace, had come to terms. Here again the salary represented a substantial increase, probably $15,000.

Bavasi said the club is looking for a first line starting pitcher and was ready to give up front line players for the right man.

Angling For Spahn

No names were mentioned but it is known the Brooks hope to land Warren Spahn from the Boston Braves and probably would toss First Baseman Gil Hodges and Outfielder Carl Furillo into the deal.

While the Dodgers were signing Dressen, the complicated draft machinery of the minor leagues shifted into gear. It appeared that the selection would follow the trend of the majors yesterday who drafted the only 11 men, a low since 1945.

The Pacific Coast League, given special rating as an open classification last winter, picked only four men for $23,500 from the lower leagues. They were not permitted to select from the two Triple A class leagues—the International and American Association.

Minors Draft Players

In the Triple A draft, the International selected six and the American Association four for a total of 10 at a cost of $56,000. The combination of open and Triple A drafts was 14 as compared with 18 a year ago when the Coast League drafted with the Triple A leagues.

The two Class Double A leagues —Southern Association and Texas —and the four Class A leagues—Western, South Atlantic, Eastern and Western International—also drafted. Class B and Class C will select tomorrow.

Notre Dame's Lattner To Get Maxwell Award

Voted Outstanding Gridder For 1952

PHILADELPHIA, Dec. 2 (AP) — Notre Dame's two-platoon halfback, John Lattner, today was named the outstanding college football player of 1952 by the Maxwell Memorial Football Club.

John Lattner

The six foot, one inch, 190-pound ace of the upset-minded Irish, will receive his award Jan. 13 at the annual Maxwell Club dinner. Ed "Moose" Krause, Notre Dame athletic director, will make the principal speech at the dinner.

Lattner played practically 60 minutes of every game in Notre Dame's schedule in which the Irish won seven, lost two and tied one. The halfback was instrumental in Notre Dame wins over Oklahoma, Purdue, Texas, and Southern California. He played a great game here in the opening 7-7 draw with Penn.

Lattner is the second Notre Dame player to be honored by the Maxwell Club since the award was started in 1937. The club was organized in memory of Robert "Tiny" Maxwell, a former football official who was killed in an automobile accident. The other Notre Dame winner was big Leon Hart, who now plays for the Detroit Lions in the National Football League.

Lattner joins the select circle of Maxwell award winners that includes:

Clint Frank, Yale; Davey O'Brien, Texas Christian; the late Nile Kinnick, Iowa; Tom Harmon, Michigan; Bill Dudley, Virginia; Paul Governali, Columbia; Bob O'Dell, Penn; Glenn Davis, Army; Doc Blanchard, Army; Charley Trippi, Georgia; Doak Walker, Southern Methodist; Charles Bednarik, Penn; Francis Bagnell, Penn; Hart, and last year's winner, Dick Kazmaier of Princeton.

Mineral County Deer Season To Open Thursday

Will Last Three Days, Tucker Open Saturday

Mineral county's three-day deer hunting season will open Thursday at sunrise, according to Claude Rice, conservation officer of Keyser.

Other West Virginia counties with three-day seasons on Thursday, Friday and Saturday include Hampshire, Hardy, Morgan, Pendleton, Pocahontas, Preston and Randolph.

In Grant county, west of Allegheny Front, there will be only one day's sport and that is on Saturday. In the same county, east of Allegheny Front, the season will last three days commencing Thursday.

The hunting of all small game will be suspended throughout the state during the deer season.

Tucker county, which led the state in deer kills last year, will have only one day's hunting this week and that will be on Saturday.

Last year 973 animals were slain in Mineral county which ranked third in the state in the amount of deer killed per square mile.

Weather Stops Races At Bowie

DeSpirito Promptly Heads For Florida

BOWIE, Md., Dec. 2 (AP) — The weather closed Bowie racetrack again today and the nation's leading rider, Tony DeSpirito, promptly took off for Florida where he can keep going after the world's record for most winners in a season.

Snow and sleet forced Larry MacPhail, track president, to call off the card. The track itself was reported suitable for racing, but roads leading to the reconditioned plant were slippery.

DeSpirito made his debut at Bowie yesterday, riding one winner out of eight. That leaves him 24 short of the record of 388 firsts in a season set by Walter Miller in 1908 and equalled in 1950 by Willie Shoemaker and Joe Culmone.

Weather permitting, MacPhail said racing at Bowie will resume tomorrow with the same program scheduled for today. This includes the $10,000 Old Dominion Handicap.

Native Dancer Voted Champion 2-Year-Old Colt

Best Juvenile Filly Is Sweet Patootie

NEW YORK, Dec. 2 (AP)—Native ancer, unbeaten grey son of Polynesian and greatest money winning juvenile in the history of racing in this country, was the unanimous choice today as two-year-old champion colt by the Thoroughbred Racing Associations' board of selection.

The board, made up of secretaries of the 37 member TRA tracks, also voted Sweet Patootie, daughter of Alquest, champion two year old filly of 1952.

Native Dancer, winner of all nine of his races last season and winter book favorite for next year's Kentucky Derby, is bred and owned by Alfred G. Vanderbilt, president of the TRA.

Native Dancer, by Polynesian-Geisha, earned $230,495, and captured seven stake races, the Youthful, Flash, Saratoga Special, Grand Union Hotel, Hopeful, Belmont Futurity and East View.

The Vanderbilt colt, trained by Bill Winfrey, is an outstanding contender for honors as American champion of 1952. This award will be announced at the TRA's annual dinner Thursday night.

Sweet Patootie, owned by Mrs. E. E. Dale Shaffer of Lexington, Ky., received 31 of a possible 37 votes as the best juvenile filly. In 12 starts, the tiny dark bay daughter of Alquest-Sweet Woman won eight races and was second in the other four, earning $61,917.

Mineral County Deer Season To Open Thursday

Will Last Three Days, Tucker Open Saturday

Mineral county's three-day deer hunting season will open Thursday at sunrise, according to Claude Rice, conservation officer of Keyser.

Other West Virginia counties with three-day seasons on Thursday, Friday and Saturday include Hampshire, Hardy, Morgan, Pendleton, Pocahontas, Preston and Randolph.

In Grant county, west of Allegheny Front, there will be only one day's sport and that is on Saturday. In the same county, east of Allegheny Front, the season will last three days commencing Thursday.

The hunting of all small game will be suspended throughout the state during the deer season.

Tucker county, which led the state in deer kills last year, will have only one day's hunting this week and that will be on Saturday.

Last year 973 animals were slain in Mineral county which ranked third in the state in the amount of deer killed per square mile.

Weather Stops Races At Bowie

DeSpirito Promptly Heads For Florida

BOWIE, Md., Dec. 2 (AP) — The weather closed Bowie racetrack again today and the nation's leading rider, Tony DeSpirito, promptly took off for Florida where he can keep going after the world's record for most winners in a season.

Snow and sleet forced Larry MacPhail, track president, to call off the card. The track itself was reported suitable for racing, but roads leading to the reconditioned plant were slippery.

DeSpirito made his debut at Bowie yesterday, riding one winner out of eight. That leaves him 24 short of the record of 388 firsts in a season set by Walter Miller in 1908 and equalled in 1950 by Willie Shoemaker and Joe Culmone.

Weather permitting, MacPhail said racing at Bowie will resume tomorrow with the same program scheduled for today. This includes the $10,000 Old Dominion Handicap.

Native Dancer Voted Champion 2-Year-Old Colt

Best Juvenile Filly Is Sweet Patootie

NEW YORK, Dec. 2 (AP)—Native ancer, unbeaten grey son of Polynesian and greatest money winning juvenile in the history of racing in this country, was the unanimous choice today as two-year-old champion colt by the Thoroughbred Racing Associations' board of selection.

The board, made up of secretaries of the 37 member TRA tracks, also voted Sweet Patootie, daughter of Alquest, champion two year old filly of 1952.

Native Dancer, winner of all nine of his races last season and winter book favorite for next year's Kentucky Derby, is bred and owned by Alfred G. Vanderbilt, president of the TRA.

Native Dancer, by Polynesian-Geisha, earned $230,495, and captured seven stake races, the Youthful, Flash, Saratoga Special, Grand Union Hotel, Hopeful, Belmont Futurity and East View.

The Vanderbilt colt, trained by Bill Winfrey, is an outstanding contender for honors as American champion of 1952. This award will be announced at the TRA's annual dinner Thursday night.

Sweet Patootie, owned by Mrs. E. E. Dale Shaffer of Lexington, Ky., received 31 of a possible 37 votes as the best juvenile filly. In 12 starts, the tiny dark bay daughter of Alquest-Sweet Woman won eight races and was second in the other four, earning $61,917.

Mineral County Deer Season To Open Thursday

Will Last Three Days, Tucker Open Saturday

Mineral county's three-day deer hunting season will open Thursday at sunrise, according to Claude Rice, conservation officer of Keyser.

Other West Virginia counties with three-day seasons on Thursday, Friday and Saturday include Hampshire, Hardy, Morgan, Pendleton, Pocahontas, Preston and Randolph.

In Grant county, west of Allegheny Front, there will be only one day's sport and that is on Saturday. In the same county, east of Allegheny Front, the season will last three days commencing Thursday.

The hunting of all small game will be suspended throughout the state during the deer season.

Tucker county, which led the state in deer kills last year, will have only one day's hunting this week and that will be on Saturday.

Last year 973 animals were slain in Mineral county which ranked third in the state in the amount of deer killed per square mile.

Weather Stops Races At Bowie

DeSpirito Promptly Heads For Florida

BOWIE, Md., Dec. 2 (AP) — The weather closed Bowie racetrack again today and the nation's leading rider, Tony DeSpirito, promptly took off for Florida where he can keep going after the world's record for most winners in a season.

Snow and sleet forced Larry MacPhail, track president, to call off the card. The track itself was reported suitable for racing, but roads leading to the reconditioned plant were slippery.

DeSpirito made his debut at Bowie yesterday, riding one winner out of eight. That leaves him 24 short of the record of 388 firsts in a season set by Walter Miller in 1908 and equalled in 1950 by Willie Shoemaker and Joe Culmone.

Weather permitting, MacPhail said racing at Bowie will resume tomorrow with the same program scheduled for today. This includes the $10,000 Old Dominion Handicap.

Eavesdropping At The Horse Show

After taking a gander at the stiff shirts and stuffed shirts around the ringside at the annual horse show in Madison Square Garden, I dropped down into the basement where the animals are stabled during this week when oats, hay, and manure again come back into the center of New York. I overheard a mare talking to her next-door neighbor which was one of the jumpers on the American team.

John Wheeler

"We just finished the harness class," she began, "and they had a dame out there as judge who must have had cataracts on both eyes, and one on her nose, too. Not that I have anything against the female sex of course, but this one could neither see nor smell I guess, since her decision stunk. Maybe she is color blind, besides, because she pinned a blue ribbon on that old slab-sided gelding, and rated me fourth."

"How do you like the air down in this place?" asked the jumper.

"It's as good as the judges' decisions. They both smell. We would be better off sleeping in the Times Square station of the subway, less noise and easier breathing."

"Say," answered her neighbor, "did you see some of those jerks riding around the ring in the sulkies?"

"You bet I did. I was in that class. There was one guy being pulled by a pony, and he was bigger than the horse. He should have gotten out and hauled the wagon for a while and let the nag ride. I thought his weight would break the whole rig down. And all the time that bag with the sore feet was walking around the center staring at us through her lorgnette. Well, it sure will be nice to get back on the farm where we can breathe some fresh air again."

A groom came in the stall and began to polish up the jumper. He turned his head toward the mare.

"Well, here I go again," he said sadly, "carrying that big lug around over those hurdles. Smart guy. He was trying to put a clean shirt on a while ago, and he remarks to his wife,

"'Darling, these neckbands have certainly shrunk.'

"She looks at him a minute, and then says politely,

"'Big Brain, you wouldn't think so if you would take your head out of the buttonhole and put it where it belongs.'

"This is a touch and out event. Watch me knock off that top rail at the first jump and get the whistle. I'm feeling pretty tired."

I went back to the arena and circled the boxes and was dazzled by the dress shirts, plunging necklines, and jewelry. There was also a distinct aroma of alcohol which didn't come from the horses. As I put on my hat and left, I decided there were more spare parts of a horse than horses available in case of need.

The Old Second Guesser

by John Wheeler

Eavesdropping At The Horse Show

After taking a gander at the stiff shirts and stuffed shirts around the ringside at the annual horse show in Madison Square Garden, I dropped down into the basement where the animals are stabled during this week when oats, hay, and manure again come back into the center of New York. I overheard a mare talking to her next-door neighbor which was one of the jumpers on the American team.

John Wheeler

"We just finished the harness class," she began, "and they had a dame out there as judge who must have had cataracts on both eyes, and one on her nose, too. Not that I have anything against the female sex of course, but this one could neither see nor smell I guess, since her decision stunk. Maybe she is color blind, besides, because she pinned a blue ribbon on that old slab-sided gelding, and rated me fourth."

"How do you like the air down in this place?" asked the jumper.

"It's as good as the judges' decisions. They both smell. We would be better off sleeping in the Times Square station of the subway, less noise and easier breathing."

"Say," answered her neighbor, "did you see some of those jerks riding around the ring in the sulkies?"

"You bet I did. I was in that class. There was one guy being pulled by a pony, and he was bigger than the horse. He should have gotten out and hauled the wagon for a while and let the nag ride. I thought his weight would break the whole rig down. And all the time that bag with the sore feet was walking around the center staring at us through her lorgnette. Well, it sure will be nice to get back on the farm where we can breathe some fresh air again."

A groom came in the stall and began to polish up the jumper. He turned his head toward the mare.

"Well, here I go again," he said sadly, "carrying that big lug around over those hurdles. Smart guy. He was trying to put a clean shirt on a while ago, and he remarks to his wife,

"'Darling, these neckbands have certainly shrunk.'

"She looks at him a minute, and then says politely,

"'Big Brain, you wouldn't think so if you would take your head out of the buttonhole and put it where it belongs.'

"This is a touch and out event. Watch me knock off that top rail at the first jump and get the whistle. I'm feeling pretty tired."

I went back to the arena and circled the boxes and was dazzled by the dress shirts, plunging necklines, and jewelry. There was also a distinct aroma of alcohol which didn't come from the horses. As I put on my hat and left, I decided there were more spare parts of a horse than horses available in case of need.

Keeping Up With Hollywood

by Louella Parsons

HOLLYWOOD, Dec. 2 (INS)—It's good to see any girl as happy as Arlene Dahl is these days. Life not only can be beautiful but is beautiful for her. She is going to co-star with Fernando Lamas in "Sangaree" for Pine and Thomas. Patricia Medina has the other femme role. She plays a Jezebel character.

In case you're wondering what "Sangaree" means, it's based on the novel by Frank L. Slaughter and is the name of a plantation near Savannah, Georgia. Edward Ludwig, who will direct, is taking Arlene, Fernando and Patricia to Savannah on January 13, on location.

And this reminds me, Lamas tried to get out of his MGM contract, but his option was taken up November 10, so he is still there, although he will be loaned to Paramount for "Sangaree."

After December 20 you'll see Ann Blyth on the MGM lot for keeps. Our sweet little Annie is signing a big MGM contract because her deal with Universal-International ends just five days before Christmas.

The reason she is not remaining with U-I is because her salary has gone sky high. She's grown up on the U-I lot. She started there when she was 14 and everyone from William Goetz to the gateman has wonderful things to say about her.

I suspect her first picture will be with Mario Lanza, because I understand he's getting much better and I hear after his wife's baby is born he'll return to work.

The Italian reviews of Vittorio Gassman's "Hamlet" are sensational. Shelley Winters read some of them to me. They hail him as the greatest of all Hamlets, and say that his technique has been helped by his work in America. Valentina Cortesa was at the opening and she, too, wrote to Shelley.

It's possible that Shelley may be able to go to Rome for Christmas. Richard Basehart, who goes to see his wife, Valentina Cortesa, in Rome, has agreed to escort Shelley. She would only stay a week. It all depends on whether the doctors will let her travel. Poor Shelley, I really feel sorry for her.

The bad reviews on "Bwana Devil" (it's cleaning up, by the way) have not hurt Bob Stack's stock. To the contrary, he goes to Columbia to co-star with John Hodiak in "Conquest of Cochise," a big outdoor opus in technicolor which Harry Katzman will produce.

Getting back to "Bwana Devil," it was made in 22 days and cost less than peanuts. Yet, it is estimated that the novelty of this third dimensional film will attract several million dollars at the box office.

Even the "trade" is amazed at the lineups at the two houses where it is showing locally.

Snapshots of Hollywood collected at random:

It will be a New Year's wedding for young Jackie Cooper and Janis Paige.

The farewell party for Ethel Merman, given by the George Rosenbergs in the private room at Romanoff's, was one of the gayest and happiest of the pre-holiday affairs.

Jane Wyman's groom, Freddie Karger, had help at the piano from no less a person than Johnny Green, who took turns playing for the dancing.

Ethel sang, and someone remarked that for the first time in 20 years, she and Johnny Green and Roger Eden did a song together.

The two reddest dresses in the room were worn by Zsa Zsa Gabor and Joan Fontaine. On both of them they were very becoming.

Joan Crawford, with hair slicked back in the most severe hairdo I've ever seen her wear, was with Cesar Romero.

Ethel asked that her director, Walter Lang, and his wife, Fieldsie, sit at her table, and they were there along with the Darryl Zanucks, Robert Six, and the Van Johnsons.

Clifton Webb was one who stayed until the early hours of the morn, and so did Susan Zanuck, who had a perfectly wonderful time.

Had a glimpse of Ann Sothern, who seemed to be having a very good time, as did Gracie Allen, George Burns, Jack Benny, Charlie Brackett, Richard Greene (who told me he's leaving immediately for Chicago to do the highly successful "Dial M for Murder"), Joseph Schenck, Jerry Wald, Jimmy McHugh and many others.

That's all today. See you tomorrow.

TV Makes Film Talent Scout's Job Pushover

By ARMAND ARCHERD
Central Press Correspondent

HOLLYWOOD—The movie talent scout's job is getting easier by the day. All he has to do now is sit home, turn on the television set and pick and choose.

The proof is in today's newcomers in the celluloid capital. It's a rare, behind-the-times casting office that doesn't boast a TV set these days.

One of the most sensational discoveries made via TV is 6-year-old George Winslow whose "foghorn" voice on Art Linkletter's show so intrigued Cary Grant that he had Georgie play his son in Room for One More. Following this the youngster again joined Cary in Monkey Business. Darryl Zanuck was so impressed he signed the youngster to a long-term contract.

Charlton Heston is another example of what TV's done for movies. He's now Susan Hayward's co-star in The President's Lady. Only a little while back he was a star of Studio One on television.

Producer Hal Wallis was so impressed with the consistenly good performances of Heston, he signed him up on the actor's OWN terms—which meant one-picture-a-year for Wallis, permission to do outside films and all the TV, stock, radio and legitimate shows he wanted!

It's rare when a film actress makes a comeback, but Trudy Marshall has done it thanks to TV. She last did The Dolly Sisters in 1945 and then moved to lesser and lesser roles till she was rediscovered by her own alma mater on a television program and re-signed.

"Anne Marno" of TV fame had turned down many movie offers much to the amazement of the city slickers. They couldn't seem to realize she was making over $750 a week in the "new medium" and couldn't be tempted to give it all up for a small contract and "the glamor" of Movieville. She finally moved out, however, when her price was met. You now know her as Anne Bancroft.

A Star Is Born was a lucky TV showing for Kathleen Crowley who played the leading role on Robert Montgomery's video show. She was spotted and signed out Hollywood way.

TV fans don't recognize the name Casey Adams. That's his Hollywood handle. Formerly Max Showalter, he had completed 275 television shows in which he either starred, directed, wrote, produced or wrote the musical score!

Casey-Max now has the most unique contract in town. His dealcalls for his services in any one of seven different capacities—actor, director, composer, dialogue director, test director, lyricist and musical picture advisor. He made his debut in With a Song in My Heart as an actor, singer and song writer.

Last year's winner as the best dramatic actress on TV, Mary Sinclair, was signed by a studio and assigned to do a jungle-type epic, immediately turned it down and started her career off with a Hollywood suspension!

That same lot boasts Rosemary Clooney who was only known as The Come On a My House songstress till her face was shown on TV. The studio is now pushing her career rapidly and they unashamedly announce her as the replacement for Betty Hutton.

Luscious Rita Gam moved from video into her first film, The Thief, in which she just appeared sexy. She did so, well enough to win a long-term contract and they're talking about her as "another Ava Gardner."

Sixteen-year-old Anna Maria Alberghetti, coloratura soprano, was discovered on Ed Sullivan's show and whisked out here where she, too, got a contract on her own terms. Six months for Hollywood, and six months to do what she pleases, a rarity in this town.

TV has also revitalized the careers of many performers. Most notable in this line are Dinah Shore, Lucille Ball, Zsa Zsa Gabor, Miriam Hopkins and Alan Young.

It works both ways, however. While many youngsters are climbing up the Hollywood ladder, those already here are carving new niches for themselves and the Bureau if Internal Revenue by eking out back tax payments, thanks to television.

The flute is of ancient origin and was a great favorite with the old Greeks and Romans.

My New York

NEW YORK—Things one New Yorker thinks about: They opened the 68th season of the Metropolitan Opera company the other evening and it was an event unmarked by such previous didoes as the late lawyer Richard Knight standing on his hands or the aged Betty Henderson putting her legs on a table in Sherry's during intermission. Everybody was extremely well-bahaved, more's the pity—but what really was astonishing was to note some of the souls listed as sitting in the Diamond Horseshoe and other chosen seats.

There was a radio performer named McCrary and his wife, a onetime model; a cigar-smoking, gaudy theatrical producer named Mike Todd; a commentator named Lowell Thomas; a movie big-wig named Kilgallen (and I'll bet Dorothy'll never admit to the boys down at the police headquarters press shack that she was there) and a dance director named de-Mille. All these commoners were seated in chairs once occupied exclusively by Goulds, Goelets, Astors and Vanderbilts. The world has moved on, I guess, and society as such has coughed its last dying breath. A little soft music, professor.

Letter from a friend in San Francisco tells me that Joan Bennett has been doing "Bell, Book and Candle" there and is pretty uninspiring, all in all. I can't blame her; it's about the thinnest play ever written and even Rex Harrison couldn't lift it by the bootstraps on Broadway. . . . I am inclined to think that the glamorous life in New York City really started to fade away when they tore down the old Central Park Casino, decorated by Joseph Urban and patronized by Jimmy Walker. A cup of coffee there cost 75 cents, which is the way it should be if you're peddling glitter.

I am still mumbling to everyone I know about the new Eddie Sauter-Bill Finnegan orchestra, which certainly must be the best thing since Benny Goodman, in the way of big bands. Get their "Nina Never Knew" record. This is music. . . . I suspect that a street rapidly becoming the seediest in Manhattan is 47th between Fifth and Sixth Avenues. This is the boulevard full of jewelers, wholesale and retail, a surprisingly slovenly-looking lot who seem to do nothing but spit on the sidewalk, throw papers into the gutter and hold diamonds up to the sun to see, I assume, if they are real.

Few gentlemen specialize in the studied insult so skillfully as Milton Berle. He turned up at a Banshee luncheon in the Waldorf the other day, eyed the assembled bigwig editors and publishers and cooley razored one after another. Jim Farley, laughing his head off, took a particular verbal beating. . . . My own nomination for the villain of the week is the Brooklyn high school teacher charged with slapping a 10-year-old boy for begging to him on Halloween in the traditional manner.

I wonder if I'm warped for having a left-handed admiration for the two women who walked into the Manhasset, L. I., department store wearing only slips under their coats and swiped two dresses simply by putting them on and walking out? . . . Sight unseen, I will bet anyone a hat that Marlon Brando's "Mark Antony" in the coming movie of "Julius Caesar" will be among the best film portrayals of the year.

I don't know whatever became of the move to draft Floyd Cramer for the Republicna Presidential nomination, but I do suspect it will not be the last we have heard of Mr. Cramer. Cramer, who lives in Larchmont, N. Y., is president of the Washington Heights Federal Savings and Loan Association, is what you might call a study in paradoxes. He was born in Smackover, Ark., but he's a Republican; he's a bank president who talks like a union leader and he's a bald man who uses hair tonic.

A handsome six-footer, Cramer buys his bank employes free lunches and one free dinner a week. He was a Marine for four years and although he is a Methodist he devotes much of his time to serving on charities for Jewish welfare. He points out that business has complained a lot about the welfare state but hasn't done anything about it. "Money must have a heart," he says succinctly.

The Asiatic elephant has small ears and large eyes, while the African elephant has large ears and small eyes.

A bird's heart beats about 1,000 times a minute. By contrast, a human heart beats about 75 times a minute.

Radio And Television
by John Crosby

Some Small Complaints

Always on the alert to guard that citadel of American culture—the popular song—I'm sounding the toxin right now against a practice which I consider subversive. You know what television producers are doing to blues songs? They're putting happy endings on them. I seen it with my own eyes.

John Crosby

The other day on "The Hit Parade," a young lady, conceivably Dorothy Collins, was moaning that popular lament that she wished he were here because they were painting the sky a different color this year or some such nonsense. At the end of this anguished cry, he showed up, the answer to a maiden's prayer. A little while later, another forlorn maiden was shown singing "Somewhere Along the Way." She hoped she'd find him somewhere along the way and damned if she didn't. As I say, I consider this tampering with the fundamental intent of a songwriter unAmerican.

When a songwriter writes about a girl sitting alone by the telephone, he darn well wants her to be alone. Heartbreak is the most precious element of the songwriter's precarious career. If I were a songwriter, I'd rise in revolt against these TV producers who are trying to mend the hearts he has shattered in song. Next thing you know some singer will be shown singing "My Buddy" out in No Man's Land over the body of his fallen comrade and the corpse will rear up and proclaim that it was only a flesh wound.

My South American intelligence service, normally a somnient operation, came to life briefly the other day. At any rate, the mail packet brought a letter concerning television in Rio de Janeiro. "We are the proud possessors of one TV station. It works from 5 to 6 each afternoon during which time they show old Charlie Chaplin or Laurel and Hardy pictures — at the end of which a trailer clearly states, in English, that the picture is not licensed for TV.

"The second period of television runs from 8:30 until about 11 p. m. It can't go on longer than this because the transmitter (not the studio) is located atop Sugar Loaf mountain and the last cable car from there is at midnight. So if the program runs any longer, all technicians are marooned on top of the mountain until the morning after.

"As to the programs, there was one unforgettable version of 'Othello' in which the opening sentence was Nao entrai simply because the fool in charge of the script didn't know enough Portuguese to realize it should be nao entreis. That's like saying 'Is I in love, I is', no less. On top of that, Othello was the only actor in the entire cast you could positively swear had no Negro blood in him whatsoever.

"Our picture is never sharp except in the background or foreground. This isn't too objectionable since it always seems to be seen through waves of gelatin, and focus wouldn't be appreciated anyway. Another thing the TV people like to do here is to stop a picture right in the middle, run off an ad and then go on to another program. I find it frustrating. However I get back at them by calling the station and, after they answer, leaving the phone off the hook (after explaining why) for half an hour. Our phone system is so constructed that their phone cannot make nor receive calls until the calling phone (in this case mine) is replaced on the hook."

So we take leave of romantic, sun-drenched Rio and return to New York, where there is an early morning weatherman on WNBT named Charles F. McCarthy whose weather chats pulsate with such wondrous prose that some of his listeners dive right back into bed and pull the covers over their ears.

"Here in midtown Manhattan," Mr. McCarthy is quite likely to say, "it's a rare and lovely November morn. An enchantingly beautiful robin's egg sky with a lacy pattern woven wisps of wondrous white. A glowing golden gleam from Old Sol adds the touch of a picture postcard sky. The air is savory and delightful. All makes for a topdrawer four 'S' day — succulent, sunny, semi-summery."

Now, look here, McCarthy. There hasn't been any savory air in Manhattan since the Indians owned it. As for those "woven wisps of wondrous white," if you look again you'll notice that lacy pattern spells out Pepsi-Cola. It's an ad, son. Enough of this succulence, McCarthy. How cold is it outside?

Radio And Television

Some Small Complaints

Always on the alert to guard that citadel of American culture—the popular song—I'm sounding the toxin right now against a practice which I consider subversive. You know what television producers are doing to blues songs? They're putting happy endings on them. I seen it with my own eyes.

John Crosby

The other day on "The Hit Parade," a young lady, conceivably Dorothy Collins, was moaning that popular lament that she wished he were here because they were painting the sky a different color this year or some such nonsense. At the end of this anguished cry, he showed up, the answer to a maiden's prayer. A little while later, another forlorn maiden was shown singing "Somewhere Along the Way." She hoped she'd find him somewhere along the way and damned if she didn't. As I say, I consider this tampering with the fundamental intent of a songwriter unAmerican.

When a songwriter writes about a girl sitting alone by the telephone, he darn well wants her to be alone. Heartbreak is the most precious element of the songwriter's precarious career. If I were a songwriter, I'd rise in revolt against these TV producers who are trying to mend the hearts he has shattered in song. Next thing you know some singer will be shown singing "My Buddy" out in No Man's Land over the body of his fallen comrade and the corpse will rear up and proclaim that it was only a flesh wound.

My South American intelligence service, normally a somnient operation, came to life briefly the other day. At any rate, the mail packet brought a letter concerning television in Rio de Janeiro. "We are the proud possessors of one TV station. It works from 5 to 6 each afternoon during which time they show old Charlie Chaplin or Laurel and Hardy pictures — at the end of which a trailer clearly states, in English, that the picture is not licensed for TV.

"The second period of television runs from 8:30 until about 11 p. m. It can't go on longer than this because the transmitter (not the studio) is located atop Sugar Loaf mountain and the last cable car from there is at midnight. So if the program runs any longer, all technicians are marooned on top of the mountain until the morning after.

"As to the programs, there was one unforgettable version of 'Othello' in which the opening sentence was Nao entrai simply because the fool in charge of the script didn't know enough Portuguese to realize it should be nao entreis. That's like saying 'Is I in love, I is', no less. On top of that, Othello was the only actor in the entire cast you could positively swear had no Negro blood in him whatsoever.

"Our picture is never sharp except in the background or foreground. This isn't too objectionable since it always seems to be seen through waves of gelatin, and focus wouldn't be appreciated anyway. Another thing the TV people like to do here is to stop a picture right in the middle, run off an ad and then go on to another program. I find it frustrating. However I get back at them by calling the station and, after they answer, leaving the phone off the hook (after explaining why) for half an hour. Our phone system is so constructed that their phone cannot make nor receive calls until the calling phone (in this case mine) is replaced on the hook."

So we take leave of romantic, sun-drenched Rio and return to New York, where there is an early morning weatherman on WNBT named Charles F. McCarthy whose weather chats pulsate with such wondrous prose that some of his listeners dive right back into bed and pull the covers over their ears.

"Here in midtown Manhattan," Mr. McCarthy is quite likely to say, "it's a rare and lovely November morn. An enchantingly beautiful robin's egg sky with a lacy pattern woven wisps of wondrous white. A glowing golden gleam from Old Sol adds the touch of a picture postcard sky. The air is savory and delightful. All makes for a topdrawer four 'S' day — succulent, sunny, semi-summery."

Now, look here, McCarthy. There hasn't been any savory air in Manhattan since the Indians owned it. As for those "woven wisps of wondrous white," if you look again you'll notice that lacy pattern spells out Pepsi-Cola. It's an ad, son. Enough of this succulence, McCarthy. How cold is it outside?

Daily Bridge Lesson

by Shepard Barclay

OPPONENTS WARN YOU

LISTENING to the opponents' bidding, and making inescapable inferences from it, can warn you about a gross misfit between your own hand and your partner's. Suppose the man at your right bids one suit, his partner can't support it and your own mate then bids another suit. You can surely read the balance of length of the opponent's suit as being in your partner's hand if you are short in it. If you are also short in the suit your partner bid, and have two long suits of your own, you know your partner's indicated two-suiter can't possibly furnish a good fit for your hand.

Dbl.

Two-trick defeat of that contract, giving the defenders 300 points, was due to the fact that South had not made deductions which were there for him to produce without any particular strain. West's failure to support East's hearts, coupled with East's failure to rebid them, should have made South pretty sure that North had a goodly number of cards in that suit. In addition, North had bid spades. Therefore North's length in those majors could not leave him many cards in the minors.

If South reckoned that way, he would have realized that the likelihood of a misfit between his side's hands was almost tantamount to a certainty. That reading could have been done as soon as he heard North's first bid, 2-Spades, and East's ensuing pass. He therefore should have considered himself amply warned of the misfit danger and should have bid as conservatively as possible on his next turn—3-Clubs instead of the mighty jump of one-more-than-necessary with 4-Clubs, an absolute force.

If South had bid only 3-Clubs then, North would have indicated meekly his preference at 3-Diamonds. South then might have tried 4-Diamonds, but North would have passed it, and the opponents would not have doubled. Think of how much that would have saved.

If South wins the third heart lead, then runs his clubs, how can the defenders guide one another in their discards to beat his 3-No Trumps.

Insurance Co. Sued For Second $5,000

NEW YORK, N. Y.—The Metropolitan Life Insurance Company, after having paid the $5,000 face amount of a life insurance policy on a Korean War casualty, is being sued for payment of a second $5,000 sum under the policy's double indemnity feature.

The suit has been filed by Jack Weissman, of Los Angeles, who is the beneficiary of a policy on the life of his son, Stanley, killed in action in Korea.

The insurance company's position is that, although the face amount of the policy is payable, and in this case was promptly paid, the double idenmnity clause applies only to death by accidental means, and specifically sets forth exclusion against coverage for death "while the insured is in the military, naval, or air forces of any country at war."

OPPONENTS WARN YOU

LISTENING to the opponents' bidding, and making inescapable inferences from it, can warn you about a gross misfit between your own hand and your partner's. Suppose the man at your right bids one suit, his partner can't support it and your own mate then bids another suit. You can surely read the balance of length of the opponent's suit as being in your partner's hand if you are short in it. If you are also short in the suit your partner bid, and have two long suits of your own, you know your partner's indicated two-suiter can't possibly furnish a good fit for your hand.

Two-trick defeat of that contract, giving the defenders 300 points, was due to the fact that South had not made deductions which were there for him to produce without any particular strain. West's failure to support East's hearts, coupled with East's failure to rebid them, should have made South pretty sure that North had a goodly number of cards in that suit. In addition, North had bid spades. Therefore North's length in those majors could not leave him many cards in the minors.

If South reckoned that way, he would have realized that the likelihood of a misfit between his side's hands was almost tantamount to a certainty. That reading could have been done as soon as he heard North's first bid, 2-Spades, and East's ensuing pass. He therefore should have considered himself amply warned of the misfit danger and should have bid as conservatively as possible on his next turn—3-Clubs instead of the mighty jump of one-more-than-necessary with 4-Clubs, an absolute force.

If South had bid only 3-Clubs then, North would have indicated meekly his preference at 3-Diamonds. South then might have tried 4-Diamonds, but North would have passed it, and the opponents would not have doubled. Think of how much that would have saved.

If South wins the third heart lead, then runs his clubs, how can the defenders guide one another in their discards to beat his 3-No Trumps.

Insurance Co. Sued For Second $5,000

NEW YORK, N. Y.—The Metropolitan Life Insurance Company, after having paid the $5,000 face amount of a life insurance policy on a Korean War casualty, is being sued for payment of a second $5,000 sum under the policy's double indemnity feature.

The suit has been filed by Jack Weissman, of Los Angeles, who is the beneficiary of a policy on the life of his son, Stanley, killed in action in Korea.

The insurance company's position is that, although the face amount of the policy is payable, and in this case was promptly paid, the double idenmnity clause applies only to death by accidental means, and specifically sets forth exclusion against coverage for death "while the insured is in the military, naval, or air forces of any country at war."

Results Of Germanium Survey Expected Soon

Sampling Program Near Completion

The Maryland Bureau of Mines has almost completed a preliminary survey to determine the commercial possibilities of germanium found in Western Maryland coal beds.

Frank Powers, director, said the Bureau should begin soon to receive reports on the analysis of the samples which have been shipped to laboratories during the past five weeks.

Late in October, the Bureau of Mines began a survey to determine whether the metal, needed by the electronics industry and found in routine samples collected by the bureau, exists here in commercial quantities.

Powers said some 30 samples have been collected by mine inspectors during visits to mines of this area and then shipped away for analysis.

Will Complete Survey

Powers said the Bureau is trying to secure at least two samples from each seam found in the Western Maryland coal fields.

If results of the tests are promising, he added, the survey will be intensified to include each mine.

Powers said the samples taken so far cover the area fairly well and will give a good idea of whether a more intensive survey is justified.

Favorable results from the spot tests may set off a major germanium hunt, since the metal sells for about $350 a pound.

Bureau Is Praised

The Bureau of Mines has been commended for the care with which its inspectors have secured the samples. Five-inch cubes of coal are cut from the tops and bottoms of coal seams, where the rare metal is concentrated.

Tests on the coal samples are being financed by the Pennsylvania Coal and Coke Company, which is anxious to locate sources of the rare metal.

The search is bound to be accelerated as modern industry attempts to meet the demand for transistors, the tiny wonders of the electronics world. Heart of the device is small crystals of germanium.

The search for germanium in Western Maryland got under way several months ago after germanium-bearing coal was found by mine inspectors along the dividing line between Garrett and Preston counties.

Board Reports Wide Range In Cost Per Pupil

Webster Receives Printed Booklets

School costs in Allegany County during the fiscal year which ended June 30 ranged from a low of $128.60 per pupil at Johnson Heights School to a high of $396.11 per pupil at Carver Senior High School.

These are only two of a tremendous volume of figures included in the annual report of the Allegany County public schools for the year ending June 30, 1952. Copies of the booklets containing the annual report and a directory of school officials and teachers for the year 1952-53 were received yesterday at the office of Ralph R. Webster, superintendent of schools, from the printer.

Directory Information

The directory includes names, addresses and subjects of all teachers in the county school system.

Webster observed that the financial statement was compiled mainly during the term of Dr. Charles L. Kopp, who retired as superintendent July 1. Webster has been superintendent since then.

Among the county's elementary schools, the one with the highest per pupil cost last year was Detmold, where expenses ran to $233.83 per pupil. Next highest was Pekin, with $227.66 per pupil. On the other end of the scale was Johnson Heights, with $128.60 per pupil and Columbia Street, $135.42.

A grand total gives the per pupil cost for all elementary schools at $158.80. In Cumberland the average was $149.95, in Lonaconing the figure was $158.18 and in Frostburg $162.15. In other communities the average was $164.45. In rural schools the cost was $206.14 per pupil and for three-teacher schools $189.06.

Highest Per Pupil

Mt. Savage Junior High School had the highest per pupil cost among the junior high schools with $246.05 per pupil. The lowest was Penn Avenue, with $160.32. The county junior high school average cost was $192.43 last year.

Fort Hill Senior High School had the lowest per pupil cost in its group with $205.69.

Flintstone was second to Carver for highest per pupil cost according to the report. At Flintstone the figure was $317.13 compared with Carver's $396.11.

The report discloses that the Board of Education's general account had $39,596.99 as of July 1, 1951 and ended the fiscal year June 30, 1952 with $83,027.05. Receipts during the year included $1,650,934.17 from state funds, $1,331,766.75 from county commissioners, $31,546.76 from Federal vocational funds and $21,411.27 from other sources.

Disbursements during the 12 months included $89,221.82 for general control, $2,231,223.83 for instructional services, $229,364.69 for operation of school plant, $120,034.23 for maintenance of school plant, $264,422.29 for auxiliary agencies, $36,761.15 for fixed charges and $21,200.88 for capital outlay.

Building Account

The building account, which had $469,170.96 at the beginning of the fiscal year ended the 12 months with $357,609. Receipts amounted to $1,223,504. and disbursements totaled $1,335,065.96.

In the veterans' training account, the fiscal year began with $41,784.22, received $111,266.77 and spent $86,230.71, leaving a year-end balance of $66,820.28. The stadium account remained virtually unchanged in the fiscal year, starting with a balance of $9,629.61, receiving $3,692.33, spending $3,628.56 and leaving a balance of $9,693.38.

Starting the fiscal year with $25,439.90, the capital expenditures account received only $428.86 during the year, spent $10,762.46, leaving a balance of $15,106.30. The cafeterias received $533,354.52, spent $519,491.10, leaving a balance of $13,863.33. The school activities programs began the fiscal year with a balance of $21,257.38, received $151,678.09, spent $146,963.82, leaving a balance of $25,971.65.

City Collects 96 Per Cent Of Tax Levy

More Corporation Bills To Be Mailed

The City of Cumberland has already collected over 96 per cent of its 1952-53 tax levy.

By October 30, collections were at the 93 per cent mark, as $836,858.05 of the $896,200 tax levy had been paid.

November collections totaled $29,914.05, bringing total collections to the 96.71 per cent mark.

The total city tax collections will exceed the levy, since about $65,000 of tax bills are to be mailed soon to local corporations.

City Collector George E. Davis has been busy this week preparing final tax notices which are to be mailed by January 1.

Beginning December 25, two per cent interest is to be charged on unpaid bills and after January 1, a 50 cent service charge is assessed to pay the cost of sending out the additional notices.

Lewis Is On Way To Convention In Rio de Janeiro

John L. Lewis, president of the United Mine Workers of America, is on his way to South America to attend a hemispheric meeting of the International Confederation of Free Trade Unions.

The mine workers chief, sources here indicated, is attending the second Congress of the Inter-American Regional Organization in Rio de Janeiro, Brazil, with the consent of the International Executive Board.

Lewis, who is one of the members of the Executive Board of the organization, left New York last Friday to attend the five-day convention which will get under way on December 12.

Before sailing, he informed UMW officials he will return from the convention at an early date.

Weather

Cumberland escaped with only one and a half inches of snow yesterday as other sections in the area were covered with from two to five inches. Snow which continued yesterday stopped temporarily last night in Cumberland, but other parts of the district were still feeling "light snow." The Weather Bureau said rain and wet snow is expected in this area today and temperature will fall to between 28 and 35 this morning. Constitution Park weather station reported yesterday's high temperature as 32, low was 25 and at 8 p. m. mercury stood at 29 degrees. Snow measured 1.5 inches with a melted precipitation of .10 of an inch. Humidity at 6 p. m. was 89 per cent.

Nancy Long Seen Here On TV Show From Chicago

Nancy Long, 16-year old daughter of Mr. and Mrs. W. Donald Long, LaVale, was seen here yesterday by televiewers who were watching a show coming from the National 4-H Club Congress in Chicago, where she is one of 27 Maryland delegates.

Her mother expressed keen disappointment last night that she had been unable to see her daughter on the national television program. Nancy wired her mother about her scheduled appearance but Mrs. Long said the telegram was delivered an hour after the show was over. The local girl, a senior at Allegany High School, demonstrated how she makes clothes for her doll and if she likes their appearance on the small "model" she makes a larger product for herself.

Miss Long also appeared yesterday in a dress review during an assembly honoring volunteer club leaders. She wore a tailored suit in brown and white checked acetate rayon which she made herself. The coat was a tailored jacket with button sleeves. The skirt, slightly flared, had six gores. She wore a beige round-necked blouse and beige and brown accessories.

Jaycees Meet Today

The Cumberland Junior Association of Commerce will meet tonight at 6:30 o'clock at the Ali Ghan Shrine Country Club. The Mayor and City Council will be guests.

Police Taking Action To Clear Up Case Of Eight Abandoned South End Children

Police and other local authorities yesterday took action in clearing up a case in which eight children were left abandoned in a dilapidated South End home.

The mother of the children, who took a "trip" Monday and failed to return that night, was taken into custody and is confined to County Jail on charges of negligence and contributing to the delinquency of the children, police said.

Her husband, police added, died some time ago. A 16-year-old daughter held as a delinquent minor is in the Detention Home on Valley Road pending action of the Juvenile Court and State's Attorney's office.

Two local residents were taken into custody yesterday by police and will be given hearings at the State's Attorney's offices on a charge of carnal knowledge of the 16-year-old girl. Two others have been picked up for investigation in the case.

Charged with carnal knowledge are William Stinebaugh, of Lafayette Avenue, who was arrested yesterday at 4:05 p. m. by Lt. James E. Van, of the City Detective Bureau of the Police Department, and Clarence J. Northcraft, 255 Elder Street, who was taken into custody by Leo E. P. Law, of the Detective Bureau, and Officer Walter P. Dennison last night.

Two others are being held for investigation. They were taken into custody by Law and Dennison at 7 p. m.

The eldest of the family of eight, an 18-year-old girl, was given temporary lodging through the Salvation Army after a request was received from the police officers working on the case.

Juvenile Court yesterday put the other children, ranging in age from three to 12, in the temporary custody of the Allegany County Welfare Board, which found lodging for them pending further action of the court.

Numerous calls were received, according to Mrs. Elinor Westerfield ,executive director of the County Welfare Board, offering assistance.

The Child's Welfare Committee of one of the local veteran's organizations has offered to learn if the father was a veteran and if so to aid in getting benefits the children may be entitled to.

Police officers when called into the case by neighbors, found the children huddled in a room with a wood stove, the only heating unit in the six-room house.

Girl Shoplifter Walks Out Of Police Station

Midland Teenager Was Being Queried

A 17-year-old girl walked out of Police Headquarters while she was waiting to be questioned in connection with several shoplifting cases Monday night.

The girl, who police said lifted several articles from local stores, made her break at 7 p. m. Monday while police were checking to see whether she had stolen several items which were in her possession when she was arrested.

Two policemen were busy at telephones on the police desk while other officers were checking the stolen goods. The girl was sitting in the unused Police Court room.

A few minutes later, officers found she had gone through Police Chief R. Emmett Flynn's office to the street. The door between the court room and Flynn's office usually is kept locked, and the officers said they had believed the latch was on when they left the girl in the court room.

Police said they found that the girl had stolen infant shoes, sweaters, a man's jacket and shirt, small rubber boots, toilet set, ash tray and other merchandise from six local stores.

She was arrested by Officer R. L. Gilpin.

Police also are checking a report that a doll valued at $14.95 was stolen Saturday from another Cumberland store. They said a young boy picked up the toy and fled with it.

Two Baltimore youths, William Stonestreet, 15, and Forest Bryan Harvey Jr., 16, were returned to Baltimore Monday night to stand trial for auto larceny after they were arrested near Cumberland Sunday night by State Police Trooper Robert D. Wolford.

Bottling Plant Strike Ended By Agreement

An agreement was reached yesterday to end a strike which began at the Cumberland Coca Cola plant here May 9.

C. E. Stutzman, business agent of Local 453, Teamsters Union (AFL), said a satisfactory agreement on the contract dispute was reached in Richmond, Va., yesterday.

He said the local bottling plant will resume operations on Monday.

A contract covering about a dozen inside and route men employed by the firm was signed yesterday by Stutzman and Fred G. Pollard, attorney for the plant.

Terms of the contract, the first held by the union since the plant was organized in October 1951, were not disclosed.

The agreement which ended the seven-month-old strike included agreements by both company and union to drop unfair labor charges each filed with the National Labor Relations Board, Stutzman said.

German Girl Will Be Married Here This Evening

Miss Katharina Hoffman, who came to this country from her home in Kelsterbach, Germany, to marry a Wiley Ford soldier, will be married at 7 o'clock this evening at the South Cumberland Assembly of God Church on Elder Street.

Miss Hoffman, who has been here since mid-November, has had a stormy stay here. Shortly after her arrival she was rushed to Memorial Hospital and underwent an appendectomy November 22. She was discharged from the hospital last Saturday.

The bridegroom, Pfc. Harry Duance Lantz, arrived home last Friday evening from California, where he now is stationed. He obtained a marriage license Monday at the office of Joseph E. Boden, clerk of Allegany County Circuit Court.

A sister of the bridegroom, Mrs. Margaret Viands, Short Gap, W. Va,. will be the matron of honor and Leon Lantz, a younger brother, will serve as best man.

Council Okays Amendment For More Home Rule

About 40 Proposals Meet Group's Favor

BALTIMORE, Dec. 2 (AP)—Maryland's Legislative Council, which today began its big push in preparation for next month's session of the General Assembly, already has given its blessing to about 40 proposals for the Legislature to work on.

One calls for the General Assembly to submit to the voters a constitutional amendment which would give greater home rule to Maryland's municipalities.

Another would limit the scope of the 30-day General Assembly session held in even-numbered years.

Revise Racing Setup

Suggestions which involve simple action by the General Assembly rather than constitutional amendments would eliminate whipping as a penalty for wife-beating, set up a central state clearing house for criminal records, revise the horse racing setup, and straighten out the law on gathering of evidence for criminal prosecutions by tapping telephone conversations.

The Legislative Council, which acts as a kind of fact-finding, screening, sounding-board for legislative proposals, has been working on some of these ideas almost steadily since the last winter's session of the General Assembly ground to a close in March.

Much of its work has meshed with that of the Commission for the Administrative Organization of the State the so-called Sobeloff Commission set up by Gov. McKeldin to hunt out overlapping, duplication and waste in the state government.

Recently, however, the council has had some run-ins with the commission.

Two recommendations of the Sobeloff commission came under fire today by the Maryland Classified Employes Association, an organization of those who work for the state under civil service or merit system status.

Enlarges Commissioner's Powers

One of these recommendations would enlarge the powers of the State Employment Commissioner and give him an advisory board of five unpaid, public members. The present Standard Salary Board, which would be disbanded, is made up of four public members and three men who are heads of various state departments.

The change, said the Classified Employes Association, would "concentrate too much authority and power in the State Employment Commissioner, who usually is a personal appointment of the governor."

A second Sobeloff recommendation would permit the commissioner to reinstate a discharged employe only if it was found he had been fired for political, religious or racial reasons.

"This," said the Classified Employes Association, "effects a return to the spoils system."

Heads of state departments, the association said, already have a six-month probationary period during which they may fire a new employe without giving any reason.

November Was Wettest For City In 63 Years

Last month was the wettest November in Cumberland since 1889, according to records kept at Constitution Park weather station by Robert R. Golden, weather observer.

The total precipitation at Cumberland last month was 4.93 inches, or about 2.46 inches above normal, according to the Weather Bureau.

Golden said the only other November measurement higher than last month's was in November of 1889 when 5.34 inches of rain was measured.

Another wet November, Golden added, was in 1877, when a 5.10 inches measurement was recorded. Normal precipitation for November is 2.47 inches.

Last month's average daily temperature was about 47.2 degrees, which was about 4.1 degrees above normal. Normal average temperature for November is 43.1 degrees.

River Flow Near Normal

The mean daily flow of the North Branch Potomac River at Cumberland during November was 457 cubic feet per second or 70 per cent of normal flow.

The daily flow varied from 113 cubic feet per second on November 17 and 18 to 4,700 cubic feet per second on November 22. The flow at the end of the month was 278 cubic feet per second.

This information was released yesterday by Louis A. Koffman of the local office of the Surface Water Branch, U. S. Department of the Interior Geological Survey.

Koffman said operation of the Savage River Dam caused an average increase of 8.5 cubic feet per second or 1.3 per cent of the flow in the North Branch of the Potomac River here.

Without the water which the Savage River reservoir added, Koffman said, the average flow would have been 449 cubic feet per second, or 69 per cent of normal.

Streams Frozen Over

During the first 20 days of November the Savage River Dam released an average of 38 cubic feet of water per second or 29 per cent of the flow in the North Branch of the Potomac River here.

Koffman announced yesterday that due to winter conditions which will affect the stream flow in this area in the form of storage in ice and snow, no attempt will be made by the Geological Survey for the next three or four months to forecast conditions on the river at Cumberland.

He added that all streams in this area have ice on the edges or are completely frozen over. At Sawpit Creek near Oldtown where the Geological Survey has a gauge, the water is frozen over. This stream, which is being used by the agency as a sample stream, has about two square miles of drainage and sometimes runs dry.

Koffman reported that many of the small streams are frozen over and all of the large rivers have ice along the water edges. Following the heavy rain of last month, area rivers have receded to almost the low for the year.

Snow Crews Pass Tests Here With Flying Colors

Street Department crews passed their first snow-fighting tests of the winter with flying colors this week.

Andrew Heller, street superintendent, said salt spreaders on the backs of trucks have speeded the job.

Mrs. Lucile Roeder, street commissioner, said the department still has nearly a carload of salt on hand.

She said plans have been completed for fighting any snows which may fall here this winter.

A call system has been set up to alert personnel when snow or ice hits and one truck is ready at all times to meet immediate emergencies.

Mrs. Roeder said the system which has been worked out should be sufficient to meet any normal snowfalls.

She said the department does not expect to need additional help in fighting snow this winter, but that the city has an understanding with the Cumberland Contracting Company for the use of its equipment and men in case unusual circumstances should arise.

Police Break Up Card Game Here

City police last night broke up a card game at the South End Hunting Club on Virginia Avenue and the proprietor, Joseph C. Wilson, was taken into custody on a gaming charge.

He was later released on $50 bond and will be given a hearing in Police Court on Monday. Leo E. P. Law of the Detective Bureau and Officer Harry Iser made the raid.

Ten persons, Law said, were involved in the game. The arrest was made at about 8:55 p. m.

Area Cows Show Increase In Butterfat Production

Although the milk production average showed a slight decline, cows in the Potomac Valley Dairy Herd Improvement Association continued to show an upward trend both in volume and percentage of butterfat, according to the annual report prepared by Harry E. Miller and Wheeler W. Arnold, association supervisors.

The average milk production for the 12 months ending in July was 7,624 pounds, a drop of 26 pounds from 1951's figure of 7,650 pounds. However, the butterfat average was 311 pounds, compared with 307.1 pounds in 1951. The butterfat percentage for 1952 was 4.08 per cent, compared with 4.01 a year before.

Despite the fact that these figures represent improvements, this Tri-State area group still trails behind the average production for Maryland during 1950-51. The state averages then were 8,614 pounds of milk, 4.10 per cent butterfat and 353 pounds of butterfat.

Annual Meeting

Leaders in the Potomac Valley Dairy Herd Improvement Association are completing plans for the group's annual meeting, to be held at 8 p. m. Tuesday, December 16, in the office of County Agent Ralph F. McHenry in the Court House here. Officers will be elected.

John T. Mason of Cresaptown is association president. Other officers are Mineral County (W. Va.) Agent J. E. Prettyman, secretary-treasurer; Harry H. Delbrook, Mt. Savage; Andrew A. Schuller, Keyser, W. Va., and J. G. Shumaker, Keyser, W. Va., directors.

Elma Sprinker Star, a registered Holstein owned by Lester Raines, RFD 2, was the association's biggest butterfat producer during the 12 months which ended in July. She yielded 640 pounds of butterfat in 17,190 pounds of milk.

Two dairymen, Raines and Paul E. Greise, RFD 3, dominated the list of 15 cows which produced over 500 pounds of butterfat during the past year. Each had six of his cows among the top 15 producers. Carl W. Garland and sons, Buffalo Mills, Pa., had two and John R.

More Snow Seen For Tri-State District Today

Police Urge Use Of Chains On Roads

Snow continued falling in the Tri-State area last night after from one and a half to five inches had covered the district since early yesterday morning.

State Police in Maryland, West Virginia and Pennsylvania said roads were slippery in sections and urged motorists to use chains since traveling was hazardous.

At the same time the Weather Bureau said rain and some snow were in prospect for most of the district today and held hopes that temperatures would remain warm enough to avert a complete freeze-up of highways. Indications, however, were that road conditions would remain hazardous today.

Chains were recommended, particularly in Garrett County and nearby West Virginia where there was four to five inches of snow last night and it was still snowing. State Police in the area reported most roads were slippery at least in spots.

SRC Crews Out

G. Bates Chaires, district engineer for the State Roads Commission, reported 40 trucks and over 100 workers are cindering highways in the three western Maryland counties.

Last night Robert R. Golden, weather observer at Constitution Park, reported 1.5 inches of snow had fallen in Cumberland. Melted precipitation amounted to .10 of an inch.

Although snow had stopped falling temporarily in the immediate Cumberland area last night, other sections of the district were feeling continued falling light snow. Temperatures, meanwhile, were comparatively high.

At Thomas, W. Va. where five inches of snow had fallen by late last night, temperature was 34 degrees but flakes were still falling.

Other sections all reported light snow falling and high temperatures. At Altamont temperature was 32, Terra Alta, W. Va., 33; Orleans Road, 32; Elkins, 34; Deal, Pa., 28, and Rockwood, Pa., 32. All these communities had about three inches of snow last night.

Car Hits School Bus

With highways in hazardous condition, 40 children escaped injury early yesterday when an auto collided with a school bus on Valley Road in the city limits.

Following the accident a number of parents voiced the opinion that the narrow road should be widened to afford safety for all motor vehicles.

Police said a car of Hoye W. Breedlove, Cresaptown, crashed against the school bus operated by Leslie Ray Mauk, RD 3. No one was hurt in the mishap but many pupils riding in the bus were shaken up. Both operators were charged with reckless driving and a trial has been scheduled for today in Police Court.

Officer George E. Pfeiffer investigated.

In another accident yesterday morning, cars driven by former Councilman William H. Buchholtz, 40, of 713 Fayette Street, and Charles O. Tingler, 36, of 134 Elder Street, were involved. No charges were filed.

Three Injured In Auto Mishaps Near Hyndman

Three Pennsylvania residents, including a 17-month-old child, were injured yesterday afternoon in a three-car collision which occurred near Hyndman on Route 96.

Admitted to Memorial about 2 p. m. were the child, Edsel L. Kennell, son of Mr. and Mrs. Ray W. Kennell, Hyndman, RD 1. He was riding in the car with his father and suffered a possible fractured skull. X-rays have been taken. His condition was reported as "good" by attaches last night.

Roger Holler, 3, riding in a vehicle with his parents, suffered lacerations of the face and head and is reported in "good" conditions. The child's mother suffered a fractured left arm and abrasions. The father apparently was uninjured.

According to Pennsylvania State Police, a car driven by Scott W. Clites, 63, of Wellersburg, was reported travelling south on Route 96 ran off the road, and as he apparently lost control of the car, it swerved back to the highway and ran into the path of the Kennell car.

Kennel, driving north on the highway, continued up the road and ran headon into the path of the Holler auto. Clites apparently was uninjured, police said.

An investigation is being continued by Pfc. Robert Morrisson of the Pennsylvania State Police pending the outcome of the injuries. Property damage estimated to the Holler auto was $550; the Kennell auto $400, and the Clites auto, $50.

Scout Board To Meet

The executive board of Potomac Council, Boy Scouts of America, will meet tonight at 7:30 o'clock at the Council office in the Union Street County Building. Miles G. Thompson, Council president, will preside.

Results Of Germanium Survey Expected Soon

Sampling Program Near Completion

The Maryland Bureau of Mines has almost completed a preliminary survey to determine the commercial possibilities of germanium found in Western Maryland coal beds.

Frank Powers, director, said the Bureau should begin soon to receive reports on the analysis of the samples which have been shipped to laboratories during the past five weeks.

Late in October, the Bureau of Mines began a survey to determine whether the metal, needed by the electronics industry and found in routine samples collected by the bureau, exists here in commercial quantities.

Powers said some 30 samples have been collected by mine inspectors during visits to mines of this area and then shipped away for analysis.

Will Complete Survey

Still to be secured are samples from coal mines in the Kitzmiller, Jennings and Friendsville areas.

Powers said the Bureau is trying to secure at least two samples from each seam found in the Western Maryland coal fields.

If results of the tests are promising, he added, the survey will be intensified to include each mine.

Powers said the samples taken so far cover the area fairly well and will give a good idea of whether a more intensive survey is justified.

Bureau Is Praised

The Bureau of Mines has been commended for the care with which its inspectors have secured the samples. Five-inch cubes of coal are cut from the tops and bottoms of coal seams, where the rare metal is concentrated.

Tests on the coal samples are being financed by the Pennsylvania Coal and Coke Company, which is anxious to locate sources of the rare metal.

The search is bound to be accelerated as modern industry attempts to meet the demand for transistors, the tiny wonders of the electronics world. Heart of the device is small crystals of germanium.

The search for germanium in Western Maryland got under way several months ago after germanium-bearing coal was found by mine inspectors along the dividing line between Garrett and Preston counties.

Board Reports Wide Range In Cost Per Pupil

Webster Receives Printed Booklets

School costs in Allegany County during the fiscal year which ended June 30 ranged from a low of $128.60 per pupil at Johnson Heights School to a high of $396.11 per pupil at Carver Senior High School.

These are only two of a tremendous volume of figures included in the annual report of the Allegany County public schools for the year ending June 30, 1952. Copies of the booklets containing the annual report and a directory of school officials and teachers for the year 1952-53 were received yesterday at the office of Ralph R. Webster, superintendent of schools, from the printer.

Directory Information

The directory includes names, addresses and subjects of all teachers in the county school system.

Webster observed that the financial statement was compiled mainly during the term of Dr. Charles L. Kopp, who retired as superintendent July 1. Webster has been superintendent since then.

Among the county's elementary schools, the one with the highest per pupil cost last year was Detmold, where expenses ran to $233.83 per pupil. Next highest was Pekin, with $227.66 per pupil. On the other end of the scale was Johnson Heights, with $128.60 per pupil and Columbia Street, $135.42.

A grand total gives the per pupil cost for all elementary schools at $158.80. In Cumberland the average was $149.95, in Lonaconing the figure was $158.18 and in Frostburg $162.15. In other communities the average was $164.45. In rural schools the cost was $206.14 per pupil and for three-teacher schools $189.06.

Mt. Savage Junior High School had the highest per pupil cost among the junior high schools with $246.05 per pupil. The lowest was Penn Avenue, with $160.32. The county junior high school average cost was $192.43 last year.

Fort Hill Senior High School had the lowest per pupil cost in its group with $205.69.

Flintstone was second to Carver for highest per pupil cost according to the report. At Flintstone the figure was $317.13 compared with Carver's $396.11.

The report discloses that the Board of Education's general account had $39,596.99 as of July 1, 1951 and ended the fiscal year June 30, 1952 with $83,027.05. Receipts during the year included $1,650,934.17 from state funds, $1,331,766.75 from county commissioners, $31,546.76 from Federal vocational funds and $21,411.27 from other sources.

Cumberland Sewage Project Is Approved

Among eight water projects and eight sewage projects costing a total of $13,402,625 which were approved by the National Production Authority was one for Cumberland and another for LaVale, officials said last night.

Projects approved included sewage ejection for Cumberland at a cost of $24,800 and a water tank for LaVale to cost $15,000.

City Collects 96 Per Cent Of Tax Levy

More Corporation Bills To Be Mailed

The City of Cumberland has already collected over 96 per cent of its 1952-53 tax levy.

By October 30, collections were at the 93 per cent mark, as $836,858.05 of the $896,200 tax levy had been paid.

November collections totaled $29,914.05, bringing total collections to the 96.71 per cent mark.

The total city tax collections will exceed the levy, since about $65,000 of tax bills are to be mailed soon to local corporations.

These bills are mailed throughout the year as assessments are certified by the State Tax Collector.

City Collector George E. Davis has been busy this week preparing final tax notices which are to be mailed by January 1.

Beginning December 25, two per cent interest is to be charged on unpaid bills and after January 1, a 50 cent service charge is assessed to pay the cost of sending out the additional notices.

Lewis Is On Way To Convention In Rio de Janeiro

John L. Lewis, president of the United Mine Workers of America, is on his way to South America to attend a hemispheric meeting of the International Confederation of Free Trade Unions.

The mine workers chief, sources here indicated, is attending the second Congress of the Inter-American Regional Organization in Rio de Janeiro, Brazil, with the consent of the International Executive Board.

Before sailing, he informed UMW officials he will return from the convention at an early date.

Weather

Cumberland escaped with only one and a half inches of snow yesterday as other sections in the area were covered with from two to five inches. Snow which continued yesterday stopped temporarily last night in Cumberland, but other parts of the district were still feeling "light snow." The Weather Bureau said rain and wet snow is expected in this area today and temperature will fall to between 28 and 35 this morning. Constitution Park weather station reported yesterday's high temperature as 32, low was 25 and at 8 p. m. mercury stood at 29 degrees. Snow measured 1.5 inches with a melted precipitation of .10 of an inch. Humidity at 6 p. m. was 89 per cent.

Nancy Long Seen Here On TV Show From Chicago

Nancy Long, 16-year old daughter of Mr. and Mrs. W. Donald Long, LaVale, was seen here yesterday by televiewers who were watching a show coming from the National 4-H Club Congress in Chicago, where she is one of 27 Maryland delegates.

Her mother expressed keen disappointment last night that she had been unable to see her daughter on the national television program. Nancy wired her mother about her scheduled appearance but Mrs. Long said the telegram was delivered an hour after the show was over. The local girl, a senior at Allegany High School, demonstrated how she makes clothes for her doll and if she likes their appearance on the small "model" she makes a larger product for herself.

Miss Long also appeared yesterday in a dress review during an assembly honoring volunteer club leaders. She wore a tailored suit in brown and white checked acetate rayon which she made herself. The coat was a tailored jacket with button sleeves. The skirt, slightly flared, had six gores. She wore a beige round-necked blouse and beige and brown accessories.

Jaycees Meet Today

The Cumberland Junior Association of Commerce will meet tonight at 6:30 o'clock at the Ali Ghan Shrine Country Club. The Mayor and City Council will be guests.

Girl Shoplifter Walks Out Of Police Station

Midland Teenager Was Being Queried

A 17-year-old girl walked out of Police Headquarters while she was waiting to be questioned in connection with several shoplifting cases Monday night.

The girl, who police said lifted several articles from local stores, made her break at 7 p. m. Monday while police were checking to see whether she had stolen several items which were in her possession when she was arrested.

Two policemen were busy at telephones on the police desk while other officers were checking the stolen goods. The girl was sitting in the unused Police Court room.

A few minutes later, officers found she had gone through Police Chief R. Emmett Flynn's office to the street. The door between the court room and Flynn's office usually is kept locked, and the officers said they had believed the latch was on when they left the girl in the court room.

Police said they found that the girl had stolen infant shoes, sweaters, a man's jacket and shirt, small rubber boots, toilet set, ash tray and other merchandise from six local stores.

She was arrested by Officer R. L. Gilpin.

Police also are checking a report that a doll valued at $14.95 was stolen Saturday from another Cumberland store. They said a young boy picked up the toy and fled with it.

Two Baltimore youths, William Stonestreet, 15, and Forest Bryan Harvey Jr., 16, were returned to Baltimore Monday night to stand trial for auto larceny after they were arrested near Cumberland Sunday night by State Police Trooper Robert D. Wolford.

Bottling Plant Strike Ended By Agreement

An agreement was reached yesterday to end a strike which began at the Cumberland Coca Cola plant here May 9.

C. E. Stutzman, business agent of Local 453, Teamsters Union (AFL), said a satisfactory agreement on the contract dispute was reached in Richmond, Va., yesterday.

He said the local bottling plant will resume operations on Monday.

A contract covering about a dozen inside and route men employed by the firm was signed yesterday by Stutzman and Fred G. Pollard, attorney for the plant.

Terms of the contract, the first held by the union since the plant was organized in October 1951, were not disclosed.

The agreement which ended the seven-month-old strike included agreements by both company and union to drop unfair labor charges each filed with the National Labor Relations Board, Stutzman said.

German Girl Will Be Married Here This Evening

Miss Katharina Hoffman, who came to this country from her home in Kelsterbach, Germany, to marry a Wiley Ford soldier, will be married at 7 o'clock this evening at the South Cumberland Assembly of God Church on Elder Street.

Miss Hoffman, who has been here since mid-November, has had a stormy stay here. Shortly after her arrival she was rushed to Memorial Hospital and underwent an appendectomy November 22. She was discharged from the hospital last Saturday.

The bridegroom, Pfc. Harry Duance Lantz, arrived home last Friday evening from California, where he now is stationed. He obtained a marriage license Monday at the office of Joseph E. Boden, clerk of Allegany County Circuit Court.

A sister of the bridegroom, Mrs. Margaret Viands, Short Gap, W. Va., will be the matron of honor and Leon Lantz, a younger brother, will serve as best man.

Council Okays Amendment For More Home Rule

About 40 Proposals Meet Group's Favor

BALTIMORE, Dec. 2 (AP)—Maryland's Legislative Council, which today began its big push in preparation for next month's session of the General Assembly, already has given its blessing to about 40 proposals for the Legislature to work on.

One calls for the General Assembly to submit to the voters a constitutional amendment which would give greater home rule to Maryland's municipalities.

Another would limit the scope of the 30-day General Assembly session held in even-numbered years.

Revise Racing Setup

Suggestions which involve simple action by the General Assembly rather than constitutional amendments would eliminate whipping as a penalty for wife-beating, set up a central state clearing house for criminal records, revise the horse racing setup, and straighten out the law on gathering of evidence for criminal prosecutions by tapping telephone conversations.

The Legislative Council, which acts as a kind of fact-finding, screening, sounding-board for legislative proposals, has been working on some of these ideas almost steadily since the last winter's session of the General Assembly ground to a close in March.

Much of its work has meshed with that of the Commission for the Administrative Organization of the State the so-called Sobeloff Commission set up by Gov. McKeldin to hunt out overlapping, duplication and waste in the state government.

Recently, however, the council has had some run-ins with the commission.

Two recommendations of the Sobeloff commission came under fire today by the Maryland Classified Employes Association, an organization of those who work for the state under civil service or merit system status.

Enlarges Commissioner's Powers

One of these recommendations would enlarge the powers of the State Employment Commissioner and give him an advisory board of five unpaid, public members. The present Standard Salary Board, which would be disbanded, is made up of four public members and three men who are heads of various state departments.

The change, said the Classified Employes Association, would "concentrate too much authority and power in the State Employment Commissioner, who usually is a personal appointment of the governor."

A second Sobeloff recommendation would permit the commissioner to reinstate a discharged employe only if it was found he had been fired for political, religious or racial reasons.

"This," said the Classified Employes Association, "effects a return to the spoils system."

Heads of state departments, the association said, already have a six-month probationary period during which they may fire a new employe without giving any reason.

November Was Wettest For City In 63 Years

Last month was the wettest November in Cumberland since 1889, according to records kept at Constitution Park weather station by Robert R. Golden, weather observer.

The total precipitation at Cumberland last month was 4.93 inches, or about 2.46 inches above normal, according to the Weather Bureau.

Golden said the only other November measurement higher than last month's was in November of 1889 when 5.34 inches of rain was measured.

Another wet November, Golden added, was in 1877, when a 5.10 inches measurement was recorded. Normal precipitation for November is 2.47 inches.

Last month's average daily temperature was about 47.2 degrees, which was about 4.1 degrees above normal. Normal average temperature for November is 43.1 degrees.

River Flow Near Normal

The mean daily flow of the North Branch Potomac River at Cumberland during November was 457 cubic feet per second or 70 per cent of normal flow.

The daily flow varied from 113 cubic feet per second on November 17 and 18 to 4,700 cubic feet per second on November 22. The flow at the end of the month was 278 cubic feet per second.

This information was released yesterday by Louis A. Koffman of the local office of the Surface Water Branch, U. S. Department of the Interior Geological Survey.

Koffman said operation of the Savage River Dam caused an average increase of 8.5 cubic feet per second or 1.3 per cent of the flow in the North Branch of the Potomac River here.

Without the water which the Savage River reservoir added, Koffman said, the average flow would have been 449 cubic feet per second, or 69 per cent of normal.

Streams Frozen Over

During the first 20 days of November the Savage River Dam released an average of 38 cubic feet of water per second or 29 per cent of the flow in the North Branch of the Potomac River here.

Koffman announced yesterday that due to winter conditions which will affect the stream flow in this area in the form of storage in ice and snow, no attempt will be made by the Geological Survey for the next three or four months to forecast conditions on the river at Cumberland.

He added that all streams in this area have ice on the edges or are completely frozen over. At Sawpit Creek near Oldtown where the Geological Survey has a gauge, the water is frozen over. This stream, which is being used by the agency as a sample stream, has about two square miles of drainage and sometimes runs dry.

Koffman reported that many of the small streams are frozen over and all of the large rivers have ice along the water edges. Following the heavy rain of last month, area rivers have receded to almost the low for the year.

Snow Crews Pass Tests Here With Flying Colors

Street Department crews passed their first snow-fighting tests of the winter with flying colors this week.

Crews swung into action early yesterday morning, spreading salt upon main thoroughfares and emergency lanes.

Since Sunday, the snow-fighting crews have spread 28 tons of rock salt upon snow-covered streets.

Andrew Heller, street superintendent, said salt spreaders on the backs of trucks have speeded the job.

Mrs. Lucile Roeder, street commissioner, said the department still has nearly a carload of salt on hand.

She said plans have been completed for fighting any snows which may fall here this winter.

A call system has been set up to alert personnel when snow or ice hits and one truck is ready at all times to meet immediate emergencies.

Mrs. Roeder said the system which has been worked out should be sufficient to meet any normal snowfalls.

She said the department does not expect to need additional help in fighting snow this winter, but that the city has an understanding with the Cumberland Contracting Company for the use of its equipment and men in case unusual circumstances should arise.

Police Break Up Card Game Here

City police last night broke up a card game at the South End Hunting Club on Virginia Avenue and the proprietor, Joseph C. Wilson, was taken into custody on a gaming charge.

He was later released on $50 bond and will be given a hearing in Police Court on Monday. Leo E. P. Law of the Detective Bureau and Officer Harry Iser made the raid.

Ten persons, Law said, were involved in the game. The arrest was made at about 8:55 p. m.

Area Cows Show Increase In Butterfat Production

Although the milk production average showed a slight decline, cows in the Potomac Valley Dairy Herd Improvement Association continued to show an upward trend both in volume and percentage of butterfat, according to the annual report prepared by Harry E. Miller and Wheeler W. Arnold, association supervisors.

The average milk production for the 12 months ending in July was 7,624 pounds, a drop of 26 pounds from 1951's figure of 7,650 pounds. However, the butterfat average was 311 pounds, compared with 307.1 pounds in 1951. The butterfat percentage for 1952 was 4.08 per cent, compared with 4.01 a year before.

Despite the fact that these figures represent improvements, this Tri-State area group still trails behind the average production for Maryland during 1950-51. The state averages then were 8,614 pounds of milk, 4.10 per cent butterfat and 353 pounds of butterfat.

Annual Meeting

Leaders in the Potomac Valley Dairy Herd Improvement Association are completing plans for the group's annual meeting, to be held at 8 p. m. Tuesday, December 16, in the office of County Agent Ralph F. McHenry in the Court House here. Officers will be elected.

John T. Mason of Cresaptown is association president. Other officers are Mineral County (W. Va.) Agent J. E. Prettyman, secretary-treasurer; Harry H. Delbrook, Mt. Savage; Andrew A. Schuller, Keyser, W. Va., and J. G. Shumaker, Keyser, W. Va., directors.

Elma Sprinker Star, a registered Holstein owned by Lester Raines, RFD 2, was the association's biggest butterfat producer during the 12 months which ended in July. She yielded 640 pounds of butterfat in 17,190 pounds of milk.

Two dairymen, Raines and Paul E. Greise, RFD 3, dominated the list of 15 cows which produced over 500 pounds of butterfat during the past year. Each had six of his cows among the top 15 producers. Carl W. Garland and sons, Buffalo Mills, Pa., had two and John R.

Police Taking Action To Clear Up Case Of Eight Abandoned South End Children

Police and other local authorities yesterday took action in clearing up a case in which eight children were left abandoned in a dilapidated South End home.

The mother of the children, who took a "trip" Monday and failed to return that night, was taken into custody and is confined to County Jail on charges of negligence and contributing to the delinquency of the children, police said.

Her husband, police added, died some time ago. A 16-year-old daughter held as a delinquent minor is in the Detention Home on Valley Road pending action of the Juvenile Court and State's Attorney's office.

Two local residents were taken into custody yesterday by police and will be given hearings at the State's Attorney's offices on a charge of carnal knowledge of the 16-year-old girl. Two others have been picked up for investigation in the case.

Charged with carnal knowledge are William Stinebaugh, of Lafayette Avenue, who was arrested yesterday at 4:05 p. m. by Lt. James E. Van, of the City Detective Bureau of the Police Department, and Clarence J. Northcraft, 255 Elder Street, who was taken into custody by Leo E. P. Law, of the Detective Bureau, and Officer Walter P. Dennison last night.

Two others are being held for investigation. They were taken into custody by Law and Dennison at 7 p. m.

The eldest of the family of eight, an 18-year-old girl, was given temporary lodging through the Salvation Army after a request was received from the police officers working on the case.

Juvenile Court yesterday put the other children, ranging in age from three to 12, in the temporary custody of the Allegany County Welfare Board, which found lodging for them pending further action of the court.

Numerous calls were received, according to Mrs. Elinor Westerfield, executive director of the County Welfare Board, offering assistance.

The Child's Welfare Committee of one of the local veteran's organizations has offered to learn if the father was a veteran and if so to aid in getting benefits the children may be entitled to.

Police officers when called into the case by neighbors, found the children huddled in a room with a wood stove, the only heating unit in the six-room house.

More Snow Seen For Tri-State District Today

Police Urge Use Of Chains On Roads

Snow continued falling in the Tri-State area last night after from one and a half to five inches had covered the district since early yesterday morning.

State Police in Maryland, West Virginia and Pennsylvania said roads were slippery in sections and urged motorists to use chains since traveling was hazardous.

At the same time the Weather Bureau said rain and some snow were in prospect for most of the district today and held hopes that temperatures would remain warm enough to avert a complete freeze-up of highways. Indications, however, were that road conditions would remain hazardous today.

Chains were recommended, particularly in Garrett County and nearby West Virginia where there was four to five inches of snow last night and it was still snowing. State Police in the area reported most roads were slippery at least in spots.

SRC Crews Out

G. Bates Chaires, district engineer for the State Roads Commission, reported 40 trucks and over 100 workers are cindering highways in the three western Maryland counties.

Last night Robert R. Golden, weather observer at Constitution Park, reported 1.5 inches of snow had fallen in Cumberland. Melted precipitation amounted to .10 of an inch.

Although snow had stopped falling temporarily in the immediate Cumberland area last night, other sections of the district were feeling continued falling light snow. Temperatures, meanwhile, were comparatively high.

At Thomas, W. Va. where five inches of snow had fallen by late last night, temperature was 34 degrees but flakes were still falling.

Other sections all reported light snow falling and high temperatures. At Altamont temperature was 32, Terra Alta, W. Va., 33; Orleans Road, 32; Elkins, 34; Deal, Pa., 28, and Rockwood, Pa., 32. All these communities had about three inches of snow last night.

Car Hits School Bus

With highways in hazardous condition, 40 children escaped injury early yesterday when an auto collided with a school bus on Valley Road in the city limits.

Following the accident a number of parents voiced the opinion that the narrow road should be widened to afford safety for all motor vehicles.

Police said a car of Hoye W. Breedlove, Cresaptown, crashed against the school bus operated by Leslie Ray Mauk, RD 3. No one was hurt in the mishap but many pupils riding in the bus were shaken up. Both operators were charged with reckless driving and a trial has been scheduled for today in Police Court.

Officer George E. Pfeiffer investigated.

In another accident yesterday morning, cars driven by former Councilman William H. Buchholtz, 40, of 713 Fayette Street, and Charles O. Tingler, 36, of 134 Elder Street, were involved. No charges were filed.

Three Injured In Auto Mishaps Near Hyndman

Three Pennsylvania residents, including a 17-month-old child, were injured yesterday afternoon in a three-car collision which occurred near Hyndman on Route 96.

Admitted to Memorial about 2 p. m. were the child, Edsel L. Kennell, son of Mr. and Mrs. Ray W. Kennell, Hyndman, RD 1. He was riding in the car with his father and suffered a possible fractured skull. X-rays have been taken. His condition was reported as "good" by attaches last night.

Roger Holler, 3, riding in a vehicle with his parents, suffered lacerations of the face and head and is reported in "good" conditions. The child's mother suffered a fractured left arm and abrasions. The father apparently was uninjured.

According to Pennsylvania State Police, a car driven by Scott W. Clites, 63, of Wellersburg, was reported travelling south on Route 96 ran off the road, and as he apparently lost control of the car, it swerved back to the highway and ran into the path of the Kennell car.

Kennel, driving north on the highway, continued up the road and ran headon into the path of the Holler auto. Clites apparently was uninjured, police said.

An investigation is being continued by Pfc. Robert Morrisson of the Pennsylvania State Police pending the outcome of the injuries. Property damage estimated to the Holler auto was $550; the Kennell auto $400, and the Clites auto, $50.

Scout Board To Meet

The executive board of Potomac Council, Boy Scouts of America, will meet tonight at 7:30 o'clock at the Council office in the Union Street County Building. Miles G. Thompson, Council president, will preside.
